PRESIDENT URGES COOPERATION AS SOLUTION TO 'DIVIDED RULE'

VETS TO PARADE IN DOWNTOWN AREA TONIGHT

Ex-Servicemen Head City's 28th Armistice Program, Banks, Schools Close.

Mansfield's war veterans will march again tonight as the city climaxes its Armistice day celebration with a parade through the downtown area, starting at 7:30 p. m.

Public offices, banks, and schools in the city were closed today in observance of the 28th anniversary of the signing of the armistice in World War I.

As veterans of that war march tonight they will recall the spontaneous celebrations at home and in France when the news was flashed of the war's end in 1918.

The parade tonight will move as scheduled, regardless of the weather, said Dwight McCullough, American Legion commander. Units have been asked to form at the Legion home at 7 p. m.

The parade will follow Park avenue west to Central park, go north on Main street to Fourth street, west on Fourth street to Mulberry to West Third street where it will disband.

* * *

March Together.

Marching will be members of all veterans' organizations in Mansfield. They will include Amvets, DAV, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, AVC, the 37th Division association and the joint Veterans Committee of Richland county. Veterans will meet at the Legion home to form the line of march, where Walter Rusk will take over as marshal of the parade.

Ceremonies began at 11 minutes before 11 today when 11 bombs spaced one minute apart were set off from the roof of the Mansfield-Leland hotel by the Mansfield Fire department. At the sound of the first bomb, the Legion firing

$13,000 SEAL QUOTA SET UP

Richland county's annual Christmas seal sale, to provide funds for the fight against tuberculosis, will get underway three weeks from today with a goal of $13,000. This goal tops the 1945 quota by $1,000.

Thousands of envelopes containing the seals have been prepared and will be mailed soon to Mansfield and Richland county residents.

Of the money raised, 85 per cent will be used in the county for anti-TB work and the remainder will be sent to the state and national association, Mrs. H. C. Brokaw, of Shelby, seal chairman, said.

These funds are the sole support of the county TB association which sponsors 15 TB-finding clinics a year, a rehabilitation program for persons who have recovered from the disease and a mass x-ray survey.

In addition, the association conducts widespread educational programs in the county, including schools.

J. E. McCullough, association president, said that all this work has been possible through the annual seal sale and has helped immeasurably to sharply reduce the TB rate in the county since 1937 when the association was formed.

LEWIS, KRUG OPEN COAL WAGE DICKER

WASHINGTON —(AP)— John L. Lewis opened negotiations with Secretary of Interior J. A. Krug today on a pay increase for 400,000 soft coal miners threatening a new walkout Nov. 20.

The United Mine Workers' chief strode unsmilingly into the big interior department conference room, heading a group of 26 other mine workers officials. They included district presidents of soft coal producing areas.

Coal Mines Administrator N. H. Collisson and other interior department officials accompanied Krug, who has challenged Lewis's right to open the government wage contract which the two made last spring.

SCARCE ITEMS COMING BACK

Lower Prices For Steaks, Roasts and Vegetables Are Noted Here.

Mansfield husbands who for months have been coming home to a wife who has worn out her customary chic and pleasant disposition hunting scarce and high-priced items at city groceries is commencing to find some relief.

Mrs. Mansfield is finding that not only are some scarce items returning to her grocer's shelves but also that some food items, particularly beef and veal, have propped a little in price.

Big juicy steaks and thick roasts could be had for the asking at prices 10 to 20 cents a pound lower than a few weeks ago. Veal prices were also reported down from 10 to 12 per cent.

Tomato products, gone from the grocers' shelves for three or four months, are back as are also many kinds of canned fruits.

* * *

Vegetables Cheaper.

Several vegetables, including cauliflower, broccoli and brussels sprouts, are selling for less.

And one of the country's leading prepared biscuit flours returned to grocery shelves last week after too long an absence. Cake flours returned nearly a month ago.

Lard, formerly a scarce item, is back in quantity. Butter was plentiful last week at prices about 10 cents lower than the previous week. Butter substitutes also were easing back onto the market, though most of them were still reported scarce.

Fruit Juices Down.

Citrus fruit juices, although not a scarce item, were down a little in price and are generally expected to drop around 15 per cent when the new crop starts coming through sometime after the first of December.

No change for the better in the pork supply, however, is expected until spring by most retailers here.

And also not calculated quickly to brighten the local scene is the continued scarcity of soap of all kinds. Mansfield grocers see little prospect of early improvement in the near future.

Republicans Prepare For Big Cleanup

WASHINGTON —(INS)— The United States capitol is getting ready today for a clean sweep of the patronage broom, the first of its kind in 16 years.

On Jan. 3, when the new congress convenes, the Republicans will put into practice the old adage of Andrew Jackson that "to the victor belongs the spoils."

Hundreds of congressional employes, many with more than a decade of service on "the hill," will be ousted. Those dismissed will range from such important officeholders as Leslie Biffle, secretary of the senate, sometimes dubbed "the assistant president," down to the lowly scrubwoman.

To some the loss of their jobs will come as a terrific blow, to others it will be just "part of the game" of politics. Biffle is expected to move into the White House. He probably will be succeeded by Carl A. Loeffler, minority secretary.

Kenneth Romney, house sergeant-at-arms, commented:

"We'll all go out. That's part of the game. That's the way it should be."

120 War Veterans Fly At Mansfield Airport

By AL PREYER

Some 120 Mansfield veterans of World War II are now actively engaged in peacetime flying, or learning to fly at Mansfield Municipal airport.

About 60 pilots in the Mansfield area, veterans of the war, hold either commercial licenses and some instructors' ratings, while some 55 are 'fledglings,' growing their wings through the educational training program under the GI Bill of Rights.

Several complete, approved courses are offered the year round at the field. They include private pilot's license, commercial instructors' courses, instrument flying, instructor refresher, instrument refresher, and water rating.

All of the instructors are ex-service men. David Droz, 27, a Mansfielder, is chief pilot now on leave. He is assisted by Acting Chief Pilot Tony Letang, Dale Ropp, jr., a former student, and Robert Hunt, previously a naval flight instructor. Droz and Letang saw service together in the China-India-Burma theater with Ferry and Air Transport commands.

Six Planes Available.

Training is done in Luscombe, Cessna and Ercoupe and Republic planes. There are six planes constantly available for VA trainees.

The veterans at the field as yet don't have their own planes, but field officials said that "over a million dollars in orders have been submitted for planes and

2 DIE, 18 HURT IN PLANE CRASH

CLEVELAND —(AP)— A United Airlines plane crashed into trees and high tension wires just north of Cleveland airport early today, killing the pilot and co-pilot and injuring 17 passengers and stewardess, none seriously.

The plane, flight 404 bound from Chicago to Boston, crashed during a rainstorm. The plane cleared Chicago at 12:35 (Central Standard Time) and was due at Cleveland airport at 3:27 a. m. (Mansfield Time).

The victims:

Pilot F. L. Brown, 44, Chicago.

Co-pilot Robert L. Arnold, 25, Hammond, Ind.

The plane was demolished as it spun into the ground. The engines were torn from the wings. The fuselage broke in half.

Fred Pasko, a truck driver, said he noticed the plane about 200 feet north of the airport, flying low. He said the plane's landing lights were on and the landing gear was down.

CHINESE WAR FAILS TO HALT

PEIPING —(INS)— Chiang Kai-Shek's "cease fire" order became effective at noon today, with no appreciable result on the fighting fronts and every indication pointing to its complete rejection by Chinese communists.

The joint American-Communist-Nationalist truce teams cannot be employed to implement Chiang's order unless composite instructions are received from the committee of three convened in Nanking, representing the opposing factions and Gen. George C. Marshall as mediator.

The Communist branch at executive headquarters in Peiping bitterly denounced the cease fire order as "unilateral action" without prior consultation with the Communist party or approval by American mediators.

Chiang's offer was being branded by Red spokesmen as a prelude to intensification of Nationalist offensives and justification for convening the national consulative assembly tomorrow in Nanking without Communist representation.

Capital's Clergy Split As Pastor Brands A-Bomb Cake 'Loathsome Obscenity'

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The capital's clergy split today over whether a cake fashioned in the shape of an atomic explosion is a "loathsome obscenity."

The Rev. A. Powell Davies expounded the affirmative from the pulpit on his fashionable Unitarian church.

Then waving aloft the printed page, he told his congregation:

"If I had the authority of a priest of the middle ages I would call down the wrath of God upon such an obscenity. I would damn to hell these people of callous conscience, these traitors to humanity who could participate in such a monstrous betrayal of everything for which the broken-hearted of the world are waiting."

At least two other Washington ministers took the view that Rev. Davies, who mentioned no names in his sermon, was overly impressed by the picture.

The Rev. J. Warren Hastings, pastor of the National Christian church who also numbers many notables in its congregation, commented:

"If we can only learn to go no further with the atomic bomb than to making the likeness of its explosion into a cake we shall be all right."

The Rev. Peter Marshall, pastor of the New York Avenue Presbyterian church in downtown Washington, said he found nothing obscene about the picture and "I don't see anything loathsome about it at all."

Blandy said he did not care to comment "offhand," and Lowry told newsmen he thought the pastor "probably just doesn't understand the situation."

TRUMAN ACCEPTS REPUBLICAN RULE AS 'VOTERS' WILL'

WASHINGTON —(AP)— President Truman called upon both Democrats and Republicans today to exercise "wisdom and restraint" in operation of the government under divided party control.

He told the nation that the parties must examine their respective positions "with stern and critical analysis" to exclude any attempt "to tamper with the public interest in order to achiece personal or partisan advantage."

Mr. Truman said in a statement read to his news conference that the Democratic defeat in last Tuesday's election "does not alter our domestic or foreign interests or problems." He reminded that "in foreign affairs we have a well-charted course to follow."

The president declared he knew of no resignations planned by members of his cabinet and said that Charles G. Ross would continue as his press secretary.

Mr. Truman said, in part:

"The people have elected a Republican majority to the senate and to the house of representatives. Under our constitution the congress is the lawmaking body. The people have chosen to entrust the controlling voice in this branch of our government to the Republican party. I accept their verdict in the spirit in which all good citizens accept the result of any fair election.

"At the same time and under the same constitution, the duties and responsibilities of the chief executive and of the executive branch of the government are entrusted to me and my associates.

"Our government is founded upon the constitutional principle that the three branches of the government are independent of each other. Under this principle our country has prospered and grown great.

"I should be less than candid, however, if I omitted to state that the present situation threatens difficulties.

* * *

Pledges Self to Duty.

"I shall devote all my energy to the discharge of my duty with a full realization of the responsibility which results from the present state of affairs. I do not claim for myself and my associates greater devotion to the welfare of our nation than I ascribe to others of another party.

"Inevitably, issues will arise between the president and the congress. When this occurs, we must examine our respective positions with stern and critical analysis to exclude any attempt to tamper with the public interest in order to achieve personal or partisan advantage.

"The change in the majority in the congress does not alter our domestic or foreign interests or problems. In foreign affairs we have a well-charted course to follow. Our foreign policy has been developed and executed on a bipartisan basis. I have done my best to strengthen and extend this practice.

"We are set upon a hard course. An effort by either the executive or the legislative branch of the government to embarrass the other for partisan reasons would bring frustration to our country. To follow the course with honor to ourselves and with benefit to our country, we must look beyond and above ourselves and our party interests for the true bearing.

"I shall cooperate in every proper manner with members of the congress, and my hope and prayer is that this spirit of cooperation will be reciprocated.

"To them, one and all, I pledge faith with faith, and promise to meet good will with good will."

Palestine Fear Hits In London

LONDON —(INS)— The war office was reliably reported today to have completed military plans to strike swiftly against the Jewish underground which allegedly threatened the lives of British Prime Minister Clement R. Atlee and other government leaders.

However, the strictest security blackout reminiscent of wartime pre-invasion days was clamped down on plans to counter the reported threat.

* * *

BRITISH LEADERS GET WARNINGS

Messages said to have been sent Attlee, Field Marshall Viscount Montgomery, Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin and War Minister F. J. Bellenger said they would pay with their lives if Britain did not change its policy towards Palestine.

The threats were said to have been accompanied by a promise to blow up the foreign and war offices.

One authoritative source revealed that three companies of troops "are being held in readiness for any possible emergency."

The authoritative British Press association quoted a high military authority as stating that mobile platoons of battle-hardened British veterans have been deployed in various barracks throughout London ready to rush to the scene of suspected trouble.

A Scotland yard official intimated the yard might be the first target of any terrorist outbreak. He said:

"The alert is on."

Known Scotland Yard detectives of 20 years standing had to undergo scrupulous creening when passing through lines of armed sentries where the counter campaign is being plotted under the command of Deputy Commander Leonard Burts, head of the yard's special branch.

SPENDING HITS RECORD LEVEL

Spending in Mansfield reached new heights during October and during the three-month period ending with October, the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland reported today.

Money transfers by check and withdrawals from savings deposits reached a record high of $32,149,000 during the month. A new three-month high of $92,958,000 also was recorded.

The October figure tops by more than $1,300,000 a previous high recorded in August and surpasses July's debit figure by more than $2,700,000. It marks a 40 per cent increase in debits over October, 1945.

The three-month record is a more than 35 per cent increase over the similar period in 1945 and is a $3,700,000 increase over the quarterly total ended with August.

The reserve bank reports that debits to deposit accounts in the 29 fourth district cities, of which Mansfiell is one, were the second highest on record for any month. They were exceeded only in June, 1945, when a War Loan drive was in progress.

Mansfield was one of 10 smaller banking centers in the district to record a high in October. Others included Lima, Lorain, Portsmouth, Warren and Zanesville.

STORMS BRING SNOW, TORNADO

(By Associated Press)

A heavy blanket of snow—in some places as much as 16 inches—covered some portions of the Upper Plain states today and in the south at least one person was dead after an unseasonable tornado.

The tornado, which struck in Pointe Coupee Parish of Louisiana, killed a Negro and injured two others—a mother and her baby. All telephone communication with the community was broken. In other parts of Louisiana, rain and some winds were noted, with Baton Rouge reporting a wind velocity of 40 miles an hour. Unseasonably warm weather had been reported over most of the south.

The snow covered Colorado, Nebraska, Iowa, South Dakota, Central Minnesota and Northern Wisconsin. Moving eastward, the storm went into upper Michigan and was expected to bring rain to New York and the New England states today.

In Colorado a cold wave followed the two-day snow storm, which had taken 13 lives. Temperatures fell to the 20's, causing additional concern among stockmen who said approximately 35,000 cattle were snowbound on ranges.

Travel was still hazardous as Colorado dug itself out from the snow storm. Twelve inches of snow blocked highways near Alton, Ia., and a fall of 16 inches was reported at Wayne, Neb. Sioux City, Ia., had eight inches and Sioux Falls, S. Dak., 11 inches. In Minnesota, the snow ranged up to six inches, but most melted in above freezing temperatures. Further snow was predicted by the weather bureau for parts of Nebraska, Iowa, North Dakota and South Dakota tonight.

PROSPECTS DIM FOR RAINLESS PARADE

Prospects for a rainless Armistice parade tonight continued to fade as a cold drizzle fell on Mansfield throughout the day.

Cloudy, cooler and rain today was the weatherman's prediction, with rain probably ending sometime tonight. However, skies should be clear by tomorrow, according to the report.

Coldest spot in the nation during the past 24 hours was Denver, with an official reading of four above zero. Temperatures for the next several days, forecasters said, should be near normal for the late fall season. A range from near freezing to 50 degrees was predicted.

Delays Mere 44 Years To Get Package

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Said the 94-year-old woman, smiling sweetly at jewelry salesman Frank McAuliffe:

"I'd like to pick up that silver gravy boat I left here to be cleaned. My sister said she'd be angry with me if I didn't get it pretty soon."

Said McAuliffe: "When did you leave it? Several weeks ago?"

"No—in 1902."

McAuliffe found it, too—in the basement.

Black, Hoffman Leave For England

Robert Black, 683 Arlington avenue, and Charles Hoffman, 75 Brinkerhoff avenue, are leaving the city tonight for New York. They will sail for England on the Queen Elizabeth Thursday morning.

While in the British Isles, Black will visit his mother, Mrs. Robert Black, Ayshire, Scotland.

They will be gone approximately a month.

Aerial Camera's World's Largest

WRIGHT FIELD, Dayton—(INS)—Wright Field officers disclosed today development and testing of an aerial camera claimed to be the world's largest.

They said the camera is designed to take large scale photographs from stratospheric reconnaisance planes at heights up to 10 miles. The K-30, as the camera is designated, has a 100-inch focal length, F-10 lens, and will provide 9x18 inch pictures with two and one-half times more photographic detail than could be obtained from the largest standard machine now used.

No 'Hog Wild' Price Jumping Foreseen

MANSFIELD NEWS-JOURNAL

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1946 TELEPHONE 4251-6 PAGE SEVEN

Winchell — On Broadway

WHEN THE BALLOTS made it bingo for the GOP Tuesday, Cong. Clarence Brown, spieler for the winnahs, was invited to come to the microphone and crow. Mr. B. was feeling dandy, and he took full advantage of the old American custom. He mentioned that the vote represented a kick in the shins for the Kremlin, which must have handed Joe Stalin the loudest laugh he's enjoyed since Trotsky got out of his hair . . . What Mr. Brown could have told us, had he cared to, is that a lot of new GOPs coming to congress and other offices owe their chairs to Moscow. It was going to be the Repubs' year anyway, but Moscow made it nicer.

Brown and his pals got their Red lift from the Moscow broadcaster who stumped for the PAC candidates. Right away the meddler made the Yankee Doodlers sore, including a lot who had intended to vote the PAC ticket. Rather than please the Reds, they switched to the opposish, and that's just the way Moscow planned it . . . Moscow knows the American temper. Nothing comes out of the Kremlin until it's blueprinted and weighed for the mischief it can make . . . The PAC boys, who were hopeful up to the time of the broadcast, spotted the supposed plug for the poisonous kiss it really was and promptly began to hedge their bets.

The "friendly" stumping was a knife for Phil Murray and his CIO unions. And PAC has CIO sponsorship . . . Some months ago Murray and his closest aides began to toss the Red Bundists out of important union offices. Commy cells in various locals were giving the CIO a bad name, and Murray brought the affair into the open, which is the deadliest weapon to use against the Stalinites. The kluxers mask their kissers, and the Reds mask their link to Moscow, and the sunlight exposes both.

Moscow didn't give a single damn about the election as an election. It was just lending a hand to the American stooges who are under orders to "rule or ruin." If they couldn't rule PAC, which they weren't doing despite campaign charges to the contrary, they certainly could ruin it. They had ruined the American Labor party and all the honest anti-Fascist groups they had soiled with their membership. So if they could show the PAC impotent at the polls, they could hope to recruit the disgruntled seceders to whatever errand Moscow has ordered them to run next.

Mark Sullivan, dean of the political commentators, spotted their design for confusion and reported it in his column in a N. Y. newspaper which is one of the Republican party's most powerful and intelligent voices.

The Repubs have mopped up on the election. They are holding all the loveliest chairmanships in congress; they have got their presidential horses galloping trial heats, and it looks as if everything is extremely hunka-hunka. But is it? Since when does a political favor, such as Moscow's, come for free? . . . From now on, right up until the election of 1948, the GOP is going to be paying that bill.

Pegler — Fair Enough

NEW YORK — Recalling the campaign orations and advertisements, I realize now that the objection to New Dealism, which I thought was most important and still believe was most persuasive in the change, was mentioned hardly at all by the Republican candidates and their highly indignant assistants.

Of course, the people were good and sore about the scarcity of food in the stores and the hours lost waiting in lines, and the degree of relief from this condition only reminded them that the shortage had been artificial, after all. President Truman had guessed wrong. There was a good deal of ill-tempered and mostly dishonest dispute about the housing shortage and, while Governor Dewey was justified in boasting that, within his state, he had done better than the national government had done in the nation, still I wasn't blaming Mr. Truman or the Democrats. We had done very little building of rental properties since 1929, when millions of the voters who now felt the pinch were very young. You get a stuffy effect when you speak of "investment capital," but you understand the idea when you ask yourself whether you would be willing to put your own savings in an apartment-house or sub-division for the purpose of making a dollar. Did Harold Ickes? Did F.D.R.?

* * *

IN THE WAR years we had done no permanent building of this kind in the areas of regular need and the dilapidation had been faster than usual for lack of materials and labor and lack of incentive to make repairs under rent controls Those controls still punish and restrain the landlord—who is a historic rascal, as we all learn from infancy, always wanting his rent, just as we are always wanting our wages — but retard investment building. Nobody wants to become a historic rascal for nothing. Unlike the meat shortage, this trouble couldn't be cured by the removal of price control because, whereas the ranchers had plenty of critters held back, awaiting higher prices, nobody had 10,000 four-room apartments or six-room detached houses stashed away.

I think people were angry about something that few of the successful candidates even mentioned except, as in Tom Dewey's case, to brag how well they had done in spite of unnecessary difficulties, without condemning the difficulties themselves. Republican policy and propaganda ignored it.

* * *

I MEAN the arrogance and stupidity, the dumb, bossy conduct of the union.

Editorialists and our punditry wrote about this, but the candidates were extremely delicate, and yet I say the people were madder over these impositions than they were over high prices, meaning inflation, or anything else. The candidates dodged the subject, because the Republicans are still afraid of the power of the unioneers, even after election. If you watch closely you will notice that they will go on tiptoe even now, with 1948 in mind. The Democrats, of course, were stuck with the blame and the best they could do was insinuate that the Tories and Fascists, meaning the Republicans, were bent on driving down wages and destroying labor's gains. But if a Tory or Fascist in big business drives down wages he also drives down the market for what he makes and the prices thereof, so I thought that argument came from a campaign book, not from the campaigner's intelligence.

In view of the fact that the successful candidates had so little to say one way or another I think the people led the candidates.

Othman — On Anything

WASHINGTON— (UP) —I want to be picketed (watch that blood-pressure, Othman) by Dinah Shore.

Twenty five hundred smackers she gets every time she shuts her eyes and opens her pretty mouth for the radio, but it looks like she and a few other $1,000-per-minute laborers may pull the plushiest strike yet.

If the Sinatras, Crosby's, Bennys, Hopes and Bergens walk off the job on November 23, as indicated, and put their wives in mink to pound the picket lines, our radios will go dead. This will be a sore loss to me. No more sour jokes. No prize contests No soulful announcements in the interest of soap.

It's not the money so much as it is the principle with these laboring folks. I know about this and I did not hear it on the radio. My usual sources at the Federal Communications commission said doggoned if they knew what the honey-throated ones were squawking about. The lobbyists of the radio outfits knew the score, but they didn't seem exactly neutral. So I went to Sol Taishoff.

* * *

AS EDITOR and publisher of Broadcasting Magazine, he had the facts. Here they are:

All the big-time funny men and the creamy-throated heart-throbs, including my true love, Dinah, are members of the American Federation of Radio Artists. This is an offshoot of the American Federation of Labor. So I guess Dinah is a laborer, even as the country's coal miners. They belong to the same lodge.

The big broadcasting networks are unionized. So are many of the broadcasting stations. Only some of the latter aren't. That is the rub.

Dinah says she won't warble love-songs to me via a union network if I'm going to listen to her via a non-union station. Benny and Company, who get $25,000 for 30 minutes labor, won't tell their jokes. That's what they said, jokes. Ah me.

The laborers will keep their mouths shut, they insist, until the radio moguls give in. If Dinah tramps the pavement with a down-with-radio sign on her bosom, no radio engineer will cross the picket line. I wouldn't, myself; I'd follow her, too. So the majority of radio stations would go dead.

* * *

THE NETWORK chieftains say they are on the well-known spot. They've got contracts to pipe Dinah's voice to the non-union broadcasters. If they give in, the latter can sue for umpteen million dollars, charging breach of contract. They'd probably collect, too.

As it happens, Miss Shore is a friend of mine. Many a time I have watched, stunned, while she sang to me and a couple of million other guys about how she wanted my arms around her. To get her soul into her work, she used precautions.

She took her shoes off. She crossed the fingers of both hands and she kept her eyes shut. Then she poured out her heart to me —and the other gents.

Strike or no strike, I cannot get along without my radio. Upon my set is a widget that tunes in Cuba, which always sounds like a rhumba band in a boiler works I shall listen to it. That'll make me a strike-breaker.

And Dinah'll drop by my house, without her shoes, maybe, to picket me. Cuddle up . . . a . . . little closer . . . honey . . . dear.

U. S., SOVIETS SET FOR FIGHT ON TRUSTEESHIP

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. —(INS)—Soviet Russia and the United States were set for a showdown today on America's insistence she will keep war-won Pacific Islands under a United Nations trusteeship, or by right of conquest and occupation.

Soviet ambassador to Washington, Nikolai Novikov, was scheduled as first and foremost speaker before the UN trusteeship committee.

Over the week-end, the Russian delegation had received complete instructions from Moscow on the Soviet position. It was not expected to be favorable to the rather bold and admittedly "novel" idea of making the bulk of the Pacific ocean an American "strategic" area.

Involved was the U. S. insistence that preliminary negotiation of U. N. trusteeships be confined to a single interested power in the affected territory. The American delegation has called for an interpretation of the United Nations charter which would eliminate any other of the "big five" nations—Russia, Britain, France and China—from original negotiation, to say nothing of lesser governments.

The Soviet view, it was understood, is that all of the five major nations have a concern in allotment of any non-self-governing territory to the control of any power.

John Foster Dulles, member of the American delegation, has stated publicly that the United States will retain control of the Marianas, Gilberts and Marshals, groups in the Pacific under any circumstances.

The United States would like to acquire a trusteeship over these concededly strategic islands. If that is blocked, notice has been served that they will continue regardless as U. S. Army, Navy and Air Corps bases.

Meanwhile, a numerically powerful group of smaller nations were combining in a bloc to curb or eliminate the veto power which each of the "big five" enjoys in the all-important security council.

This fight is hinged on the council's rejection of Portugal, Ireland, Albania, Transjordan and Afghanistan as new members of the United Nations.

Both the United States and Britain are willing to go along with the smaller powers in limiting the veto to "substantive" problems—matters which directly affect the position and economy of any nation. Neither want to abandon the veto entirely.

'BOOK BRIDGES' PUT ON DISPLAY

Cooperating with the National Book Week and its theme of "Books are Bridges," the Mansfield public library has arranged special displays for exhibit all during this week at the library lobby and children's rooms, 43 West Third street.

Miss Eva Leonard, children's librarian, is in charge of the week's program. Special emphasis will be placed on books and literature for children.

The displays have been planned to show how books may be bridges to a more intelligent world and includes such displays as: 1, facts and information; 2, realms of imagination and joy; 3, understanding of other peoples; 4, appreciation of the past; 5, growing up; 6, world of nature and 7, lands around the world.

Also planned for the week are visits of Mansfield school children in 16 different groups. They will be taken on a tour of the library and shown the displays of new books, especially selected for this occasion.

Part of this display will be books given by Mrs. Ruth Kimmel in honor of her son, Harold Kimmel, who was killed in World War II.

"We want the parents and adults to see these displays, also," Miss Leonard emphasized.

Mansfield Tire 25-Year Club Stages Dinner

More than 100 attended the fall dinner party of Mansfield Tire and Rubber company's "25-Year" club Saturday night at the Sons of Herman hall.

The program, which was in charge of C. W. Schafer, president, included the awarding of prizes, an illustrated talk, motion pictures, and other entertainment.

Included among the motion pictures shown were "A Tour of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber Company," with narration by E. H. Almy, service engineer; and two others entitled "Parade of Champions" and "Monarchs of the Ring."

The entertainment included rope tricks by Tommy Turner and trick bicycle riding by Edith Gerton. Both are currently billed at the Greystone.

L. M. Baker, manager of the technical division at the Mansfield plant, gave an illustrated lecture on "Rubber Magic."

CARS COLLIDE

TOLEDO—(AP)—Joseph Wilaniskis, 22, of Detroit was killed yesterday after his car collided with another driven by Alton Cabbage of Toledo on the Dixie highway, 200 yards north of the Ohio-Michigan line. Cabbage and Roman Strach, 21, of Detroit, Wilaniskis' cousin, were injured slightly.

CITY TO GET NEW YOUTH CENTER SOON

Mansfield will add another youth center to its growing list soon when 25 teen-agers of the First Congregational church convert one of the large rooms of the parish house, 514 Park avenue west, into a recreation center. Work on the project was started today.

When the room is completed, Rev. Matthew G. Madden said, it will be open to all teen-age boys and girls of the church after school, in the evenings, and on Sundays.

Volunteer supervisors will be on hand at all times to help with the program, he said. The room is expected to be ready for occupancy within the next two weeks.

TIRE COMPANY HOST TO SIXTY

More than 60 representatives from three leading eastern jobbers of automotive equipment were guests of The Mansfield Tire & Rubber company today at the opening of a two-day sales convention.

Organizations represented are the Onondaga Supply Company of Syracuse, N. Y.; the Chapin-Owen company of Rochester, N. Y., and the Tarbell-Watters company of Springfield, Mass. They are jobbers of tires manufactured here.

The delegation from the Onondaga company is headed by B. S. Arnold, vice president and J. B. Phillips, treasurer. The Chapin-Owen representatives are led by Harold J. Weisberg, vice president, and John P. Farber, sales manager. Those from the Tarbell-Watters company are headed by John S. Leven, sales manager.

During the convention sessions, the sales representatives will hear talks by G. W. Stephens, president and general manager of the tire company; H. B. Soulen, vice president and factory manager; J. S Wainright, vice president and general sales manager; E. E. Stevens, assistant general sales manager; L. M. Baker, manager of the technical division; C. C. Warner, advertising and sales promotion manager, and E. H. Almy, service engineer.

The convention program included breakfasts today and Tuesday at the Mansfield-Leland hotel and a "no speeches" dinner at the hotel tonight. Business sessions take place at convention hall at the Mansfield Tire plant.

REPORTS PURSE SNATCHED BY MAN

Carmella Altomonte, 171 East Third street, told police that a man early yesterday snatched her purse which contained $35 in cash.

She said the purse also contained a $10 compact and a rosary valued at $5. She told officers that the theft occurred shortly after midnight on East Third street near Bushnell school.

Only description she was able to give to police of the man was that he was about 5 feet eight inches tall and was wearing a light tan raincoat.

County Pays $165 In Animal Claims

Richland county commissioners today had authorized the payment of $165 in animal claims and witness fees to county farmers for the loss of sheep and other farm animals killed by dogs last month.

Those who were paid claims and the amounts paid were: Lettie D. Arter, $25; Frank Warren, $10; E. R. Heiber, $35; Ralph H. Hulitt, $35; M. T. Nimmens, $36; and A. R. Willet, $39.

500 Attend Art Exhibition Preview At Bernat Studios

Mansfield artists exhibited their work yesterday afternoon to approximately 500 persons at a private showing at the John Bernat studios, 26½ South Main street.

Thirty-two pupils of the Bernat studio showed more than 200 paintings and drawings in their second annual exhibition which will be open to the public from 7 to 10 p. m., for the next three nights. There is no admission charge.

Representing about a third of the year's production of the studio, the works include a variety of subjects, but portraits and still life paintings predominate.

Misses Mary Hrivnak, Elizabeth Cave, and Marilyn Schneider, second-year pupils, are represented by several works each

Miss Cave shows a portrait of Hugh Fokner who is a popular model for Bernat pupils. At least seven portraits of him are included in the show.

Also showing several paintings is William Straka, MSC, of the Sacred Heart seminary near Shelby. One of his works shows Mansfield's skyline from the steps of St. Peter's Catholic church while another is a self portrait.

Mrs. Jack Crouse, who won the News-Journal's recent Lena the Hyena contest, exhibits several drawings, but they are not in the horror style of her Lena entry.

Miss Pearl Danback, teacher at Senior high school, shows some of her work, and two landscapes by Miss Dorothy Scott are attracting attention in the show. One is a painting of a small bridge in Middle park with the trees in their summer green, while the other is an autumn scene at virtually the same spot in the park.

Miss Judy MacLean, one of the younger pupils at the Bernat studio, is represented by several works.

A member of the exhibitors said they have already received inquiries about prices of their paintings. Most of the pieces in the exhibit are for sale.

Bernat said plans are already under way for a Mansfield area art show at the city library in May. It will be open to all artists in the city and nearby communities.

STOCK ENTERED IN EXHIBITION

The P. G. Ross and Maxwalton farms near Mansfield will be represented at the 1946 International Live Stock Exposition and Horse show to be held in Chicago Nov. 30 to Dec. 7.

Ross has listed entries for the Polled Shorthorn cattle classes and Maxwelton farms for Shorthorn classes.

Twenty-nine breeds of horses, beef cattle, sheep and swine will be shown during the eight-day judging schedule. This year's show, first in five years, exceeds all pre-war shows in the number of entries listed.

Walter Biggar, internationally known cattle judge of Dalbeattie, Scotland, will judge all of the steer classes at the 47th annual show.

Alsdo features of the exposition are the International Horse Show and the International Grain and Hay show.

OPPOSES REDS

DAYTON — (AP) — A resolution adopted here yesterday by the members of Democratic Action, CIO United Electrical Workers committee, urged CIO leadership to oust communists from certain unions because the group said their presence impeded the CIO-PAC efforts to elect a progressive congress in last week's election.

WYATT HOPING TO REACH GOAL

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The administration had hopes today of holding down the cost of new homes to veterans despite removal of price controls from building materials.

A spokesman for Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt said Wyatt is "frankly worried" about the effect of price decontrol, but he thinks he still can reach his goal of two million 700 thousand reasonably priced new homes by the end of 1947 if stringent priorities and allocations are continued.

President Truman removed the building material ceilings, along with all others except those on rents, sugar and rice, in his sweeping de-control order of Saturday.

The order also lifted all wage and salary controls, but retained those on rents. It left the way open for rent increases, however.

Housing Chief Wyatt is working on a report requested by the president. In it he is expected to recommend retention of all allocation and priority controls now in effect. He also may propose some new ones to compensate for the loss of price ceilings.

Controls which will continue for the time being include allocation of materials to veterans' housing, limitation of non-residential construction and a $10,000 ceiling on new houses for sale and $80 a month on new rentals.

Wyatt also is expected to recommend retention of the present 400-million-dollar premium payment system to encourage increased production of material. He has pointed out, however, that modification may be necessary if prices rise sharply.

Frank Lane Home Damaged By Fire

Fire greatly damaged the living room of the home of Frank Lane, 907 Park avenue west, last night. Fireman said the blaze started in a defective fireplace about 6 p. m.

Flames also damaged a partition and ceiling of the living room and spread to second floor partitions, firemen said.

They said they had to chop through living room and second floor partitions in order to reach the flames. The home was filled with smoke, they said, and wiring in the living room also was destroyed.

DANCE TONIGHT

The weekly Hytun youth center dance will be held at 8:30 p. m. today at the YMCA, Don Cram, program director, announced. He also announced that the center is open after school hours all week.

GOOD HUNTING WEATHER—

Mansfield area hunters who plan to take to the fields with their favorite bird dog or hound next Friday, when the season opens, are hoping the damp, murky weather continues until then. The dampness will permit the dogs to work at an advantage and should add a number of pheasants and bunnies to the opening day's bag.

MODERN WOODMEN HONOR SERVICEMEN

Eighty members and friends attended a "good neighbor" party honoring servicemen-members of Courtney camp No. 3505 of the Modern Woodman of America Saturday night in North Lake park pavilion. Among those present were State Manager Robert S. Mox of Millersburg and Mrs. Cox and Keith Kaser, head office auditor, and Mrs. Kaser.

The meeting opened with the presentation of the flag by Glen Allen Hisey. Songs were sung under the leadership of Wayne McFarland, with Ruth Ellen McFarland at the piano.

Cox spoke briefly on "A Good Neighbor."

Servicemen presented with billfolds were Ross Loughman, George Loughman, Kitrudge Loughman, Paul Deppe, Albert Rettig, Lyman Mabee, Robert Tipper, Charles W. Rees, Leland Newbright and William Tipper.

INDUSTRIALISTS SEE NO THREAT IN DECONTROL

Sharp Increases Will Level Off, Predict Spokesmen of Leading Firms.

(By United Press)

Spokesmen for the nation's principal industries said today that some price increases would follow the government's removal of almost all price controls, but they said that prices would not "run hog wild."

Instead, they said that some prices might rise sharply but would level off, much as the price of meat has done since ceilings were lifted. Some industry leaders pledged to hold price increases to a minimum.

Comment from industry spokesmen:

Food—The department of agriculture said food prices would average "materially higher" than they did a year ago.

Clothing — Lew Hahn, general manager of the National Retail Dry Goods association, said clothing prices in general may rise but will level off. He said that buyers could look for larger supplies of such scarce items as shirts, shorts, pajamas, slips, baby garments and house dresses. A spokesman for the rayon industry said prices for rayon goods would rise about 15 per cent. Leaders of the woolen industry said woolen fabrics would be more plentiful. They said the price of men's clothing may rise slightly, but women's clothing may drop, although increases were predicted for corsets, brassieres and hosiery. No further increase was expected in the already high price of cotton goods.

Automobiles — Spokesmen for Chrysler and Hudson declined to comment pending a further study of decontrols and market trends. Ford Motor Co. said no increase was contemplated in the price of Ford cars or trucks. A prominent used car dealer at Atlanta, Ga., predicted that good used cars would advance in price and that medium and "rough" cars would drop.

Sees Future Drop.

Building Materials — Lewis Brown, chairman of Johns-Manville of New York City, said that with increasing production building materials will "work toward future reduction in building costs." He predicted that the building black market would end in a few months. OPA officials, however, said prices on some building materials might rise as high as 100 per cent.

Furniture—Joseph Griswold, jr., president of the Grand Rapids (Mich.) Furniture Co., said he anticipated no major furniture price rises. He added, however, that there would be some "adjustments of inequities" in furniture prices, but he predicted that furniture, particularly of the upholstered type, would increase in supply within four months.

Steel — Steel spokesmen said there would be no overall price rise, but that some products such as nails, would increase in price. The OPA predicted that the price of scarce items such as stoves and refrigerators would jump 10 to 15 per cent.

Coal—John D. Battle, executive secretary of the National Coal association, said coal operators would hold prices "to the lowest possible minimum." He said the OPA's prediction that coal prices would soar was "unjustified."

Youths Accused of Auto Theft

Two youths, 22 and 20, are in city jail today, charged with the theft of a car owned by Morris Browarsky, 544 Arlington avenue.

The youths, Carl R. Sweeney, and Frank R. Kenney, of Alvey, W. Va., gave 103 Elm street as their Mansfield address

They were reported to have stolen the car here Saturday and to have driven it to Wooster where it was wrecked Officers quoted the youths as saying they had been drinking.

Police also said they were investigating to determine whether the two also stole a car in Barberton which was recovered in non-running condition on Elm street early yesterday. A license from another car had been transferred to it.

Church Honors 100 Members Who Have Reached 70 Years

The quite young and those 70 (or older) shared the spotlight at the morning services at the First English Lutheran church yesterday.

In a special service planned to honor those who have reached three score years and ten, Rev. Carveth P. Mitchell, pastor, told the 100 of the more than 150 older members of the church who were present:

"We are really honoring your service to the church, not your years. Now that you have reached 70 and more, don't sit back and resign yourselves to your years. Continue your splendid record of church service."

Oldest member of the church and present yesterday was Mrs. Alfaratta Black, 93, who lives with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Wineland, 149 Glenwood boulevard.

As mementoes of the occasion each was presented with a picture of the altar. These were distributed to the older members, as they stood in the auditorium, by the teen-age members of last spring's confirmation class, the first class confirmed in Mansfield by Rev. Mitchell.

Pictures of the altar were also given to Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Cashell and to Mr. and Mrs. C. K. Dye.

Mrs. Cashell's father, the late Charles Grogg, handcarved the altar of the church. The brass vases and candlesticks were the gifts of the Dyes.

Members of the Melody choir, composed of small boys and girls of the church, presented two anthems under the direction of Mrs. Elsie Ireland, music director.

TYGERS CONCLUDE 1946 CAMPAIGN

SPORTS ROUND UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — Since this is Armistice day, it looks like a good time to declare an armistice on Army-Notre Dame football discussions . . . The question of superority won't be settled any more than a lot of questions that arose from World War One—as Notre Dame's Frank Leahy summed up the game, "a lot of things happened—everything but scores." . . . Leahy said if he could play the game over, he'd "try to open it up a little more," but it won't be played over until next year and then with different players.

Anyway, there's a heck of a chance for Penn and Northwestern to come through with a couple of "upsets" next Saturday when the Cadets and Irish suffer the inevitable letdown. Nearly everybody else has had it.

Colgate's Eppy Barnes, president of the College Baseball Coaches association, is tired of what he figures is a run-around given him by organized baseball and has made public a letter of protest to Commissioner Happy Chandler . . . in it he says: "Despite the fact that you have stated that most baseball coaches are fifth string football coaches, I feel that organized baseball and your school committee has certainly made a football of the issue at hand" . . . Fifth string or otherwise, Eppy obviously knows how and when to kick.

Although the report that Kentucky's Bear Bryant will succeed Frank Thomas as Alabama football coach next season busted out in the open over the week-end, one of this corner's Alabama informants says: "I'd pick two other guys before naming Bear, although Tommy likes him lots." . . . Whoever gets the job likely will inherit one fine prospect in Ed Salem, Ramsay Tech high school star, the same school that produced Vaughn Mancha . . . Massillon Defeats Vet Cubs, 13-6

GALION—The Massillon Tigers, powerful semi-pro eleven, defeated the Galion Vet Cubs, 13-6, before 1200 football fans at Heise park field here yesterday afternoon.

Galion scored in the first quarter when Ernst passed 26 yards to Medran.

Twenty-three seconds before the half closed, Adams of the Tigers scored. On the third play of the fourth quarter, Arrington blocked Jim Ernst's pass, caught the ball and ran 55 yards for the touchdown.

Riders Greatly Improved

Mansfield Tyger footballers conclude their 1946 gridiron antics Friday night when they collide with the constantly improving Martins Ferry Purple Riders on the Ohio river city's field.

The Riders have won four, lost two and tied Steubenville, 6 to 6. Coach Fred Thomas' squad has been hard hit with grid injuries this season, but the Martins Ferry mentor hopes to have his squad in full strength for Friday's football encounter.

Coach Paul Snyder's pigskin performers are enjoying the Armistice Day holiday and will resume practice tomorrow afternoon. The Snydermen received several bruises in the Youngstown Rayen victory last Friday but will be in good physical condition for the Purple Riders-Tygers tussle.

The ephermeral quality of football "form" sheets was clearly demonstrated on the Ohio high school front today.

Nominal leaders of the pack were Cleveland Cathedral Latin—tied once in nine 1946 games, unbeaten in 33 straight contests—and Toledo Waite with one defeat in nine starts.

Latin breezed to a 69-0 victory over Cleveland Central Saturday, while Waite gained in stature by swamping Massillon, 40-6.

At the start of the season, Latin handed Massillon its only other defeat of the season. The score was 14-7, which would give Waite a clear edge on the basis of comparative tallies.

Yet, if Waite be considered superior to Latin, what about Toledo Libbey? For Libbey defeated Waite, 8 to 6, a few weeks ago, although outplayed by the Indians. Just to confuse things still more, Libbey was tied by Woodward then played a return game with that team last week-end and triumphed, 40-13.

The week-end passed without an outstanding upset.

Among teams ranked below Latin and Waite in the International News Service "Big Ten," Lima Central won its nineth straight, 14-0, over Fremont Ross; Canton McKinley trounced Toledo Scott, 47-0; Steubenville Central Catholic pounded East Liverpool by the same score; and Campbell Memorial downed Struthers, 19 to 0.

The March of undefeated teams saw Akron Garfield a 23-6 winner over Akron Central; Upper Arlington defeat Grandview, 13-6; Lockland shutout Wyoming, 33-0; Arlington trip Van Buren, 20-0; Troy down Miamisburg, 36-0, and Columbus Linden McKinley humble Columbus East, 23-13.

Browns Clinch All America Grid Pennant

(By United Press)

The Cleveland Browns in the west and the New York Yankees in the east appeared today to have clinched divisional championships in the All-America football conference.

Both won yesterday—the Yankees by 17 to 12 over the Los Angeles Dons and the Browns by 14 to 7 over the San Francisco 49'ers—and took commanding leads. Cleveland paces second-place San Francisco by two games, and New York is 3½ games ahead of runner-up Brooklyn in the east. Buffalo defeated Brooklyn, 17 to 14, in the only other game yesterday.

A pass by Otto Graham gave gave Cleveland its first touchdown and 63-yard run by Marion Motley set up the second, and fast, hard lineplay by the Browns protected the lead as it rushed Passer Frank Albert off his feet to throttle the 49ers' offense.

There was gold enough to satisfy every magnate and glory enough to satisfy every fan—except Boston's—as the National Football league swung into its final stages today with the Chicago Bears leading the western half and the New York Giants pacing the east.

The league's five games yesterday drew a record 208,882 paid admissions, more than 33,000 over the old record of 175,538 set last year, and sent the league's total attendance for 36 games this season to 1,230,562, an average of 34,182 per game.

The Bears, defending their western lead against the Rams at Los Angeles, played before 68,381, largest crowd ever to see a regularly-scheduled pro game in the west, and Sid Luckman came up with a great passing show for a 27 to 21 Bear triumph and a two-game lead over the second-place Rams.

The Giants swamped the Philadelphia Eagles, 45 to 17; Washington edged past the victoryless Boston Yanks, 17 to 14; Green Bay trimmed the Chicago Cardinals, 19 to 7, and Detroit upset the Pittsburgh Steelers, 17 to 7.

Luckman threw three touchdowns and kicked two extra points.

Tyger Cubs Face Shelby Gridders

Mansfield sophomores wind up their 1946 gridiron schedule tomorrow night against Shelby on the W. W. Skiles field at Shelby at 7:30 o'clock.

Coach Fred Staub's eleven will be after their seventh victory in the eight game campaign. Two weeks ago the Bengals defeated Lorain at Stadium field, 24 to 13.

The sophomores are confident of a win and football fans in Richland county will get a chance to see the 1947 hopefuls of both Mansfield and Shelby in this grid contest.

Illini Meets Ohio State 'Upset Team'

CHICAGO—(AP)—Illinois, on the track of its first football championship since 1928, meets the western conference "upset team," Ohio State, Saturday while Michigan—only a shade behind the Illini in the title scramble—faces Wisconsin.

Illinois, currently leading the race with four wins and one defeat, will conclude its season two weeks hence against strong Northwestern, which has been knocked out of contention by losing to Indiana last Saturday after being upset 39-27 by the Buckeyes the previous week.

Michigan, holding second place by virtue of three victories, one loss and a 14-14 standstill with Northwestern, must tangle with Ohio State after its Saturday date with the Badgers. Thus, the unpredictable but surprising Bucks—who were lucky to gain a 20-13 win over comparatively weak Pitt last week—hold the key to the big nine crown by playing both Illinois and Michigan before the season ends.

The Illinois-Ohio encounter Saturday heads a program of three conference games—the Wolverines tangling with Wisconsin at Ann Arbor and Iowa, tied with Indiana for fourth place, going to Minnesota whose Gophers captured their first big nine victory of the season by edging Purdue 13-7.

Purdue and Indiana draw open dates before colliding in their traditional Old Oaken Bucket battle.

Touchdown Tossers Toast of College Campuses After Aerial Artistry Decides Many Victories

By DON STULL
(AP Sports Writer)

The touchdown tossers reigned supreme in Ohio's collegiate football circles today.

The pigskin pitchers were the toast of at least a half dozen Buckeye college campuses after a weekend in which their aerial artistry was the deciding weapon of victory.

One of the biggest heroes was Ohio State's quarterback, George Spencer, who flipped three touchdown passes to lead the Bucks to a 20-13 triumph over the Pittsburgh Panthers. Spencer hit Halfback Bob Brugge for two six-pointers and tossed another to End Cecil Souders.

He connected with nine out of 13 heaves for 215 yards but Youngstown's Mike Durina had an even better day as the Penguins thumped Morris-Harvey of West Virginia, 28-24.

Durina tossed three times to End Pete Lanzi for touchdowns, scored the fourth himself on a line buck and tossed to Dick Organ for one extra point. Morris-Harvey's Delmer Good wasn't far behind, either. He hurled a pair of touchdowns to Virgil Carr, one for 11 yards, the other for five.

Forward passes paved the way for all four Akron touchdowns as the Zippers edged Wooster, 26 to 20, in the final minutes.

Boyd Gibson of Wittenberg grabbed an aerial for the touchdown that pulled the Lutherans even with Ohio Northern, and Mike Moffo added his second conversion of the day for a 14-13 Wittenberg triumph.

Aerial fireworks staked Wilberforce to a 7-6 decision over Kentucky State at Franklin, too. Capt. Fred Hall completed one for 25 yards for a touchdown, then placekicked the winning point.

Oberlin and DePauw played a 7-7 tie at Greencastle, Ind., the Ohioans gaining their only touchdown on a 40-yard pitch from Quarterback Don Campbell to End Pat Cavanaugh.

The weekend of warfare left Ohio without a single unbeaten college eleven as Baldwin-Wallace bowed 21-14 to Ohio U. for the Yellow Jackets' first loss against four wins and two ties.

As Baldwin-Wallace toppled, Otterbein and Youngstown moved to the top of the Buckeye pigskin ladder with six victories and one defeat each. Otterbein's sixth victim was Albion of Michigan. The Cardinals blanked the Michiganders 40-0 to run their scoring total to 225—the state's highest.

In games with out-of-state elevens, Ohio teams emerged with a weekend record of eight victories, four defeats and one tie to boost their season record to 46 wins, 26 losses and five ties in inter-state competition.

Mount Union, paced by Vince Marotta's two touchdowns, helped the Buckeye cause with a 25-0 triumph over Allegheny; Case handed Carnegie Tech its fourth straight loss, 24-0; Cedarville romped to a 32-14 decision over Rose Poly of Terer Haute, Ind., and Hiram edged Lawrence Tech at Detroit, 13 to 7.

On the short end against the outsiders were Muskingum, Bowling Green, Dayton and Miami. W. & J. beat the Muskies, 26 to venture edged Bowling Green, 13-7, at Washington, Pa.; St. Bona-9, at Olean, N. Y.; Dayton dropped a 34-7 fray to visiting Chattanooga of Tennessee, and Miami (Ohio) lost a 20-17 struggle to Miami (Fla.) in a Friday tilt in the south.

Saved After 12 Days In Open Craft, Survivors Tell Story

NAHA, Okinawa—(UP)—Three Americans who spent 12 days at sea in an open 20-foot boat without food today told how they finally had to swim for their lives after the craft was dashed to pieces on the coral reefs of Miyako island, 150 miles from their starting point.

The men were in fair physical condition except for loss of weight from 10 to 15 pounds and from sore feet after climbing the coral reef.

They are Stanley Myers, a civilian employe on Okinawa of Philadelphia, Pa.; Cpl. Robert Elam, Columbus, O., and Pfc. Harold J. Ryan, Jr., Troy, N. Y.

The men were returned here by a destroyer escort just a fortnight from the time they started a short cruise on one of the small rivers which empties from Okinawa into the China sea. They had no food during the time they were adrift and they were unable to catch fish. They did manage to collect rainwater to slake their thirst during the second week.

"We were caught by the river's current and the ebb tide and carried out to sea shortly after we pushed our boat from the dock," Myers said, adding that the boat's motors failed to start. They were unable to attract the attention of anyone on shore.

In Sight of Land.

They were still within sight of Okinawa the second day and could see Kerama Retto, one of the Okinawa group, the third day. Late the first day, a navy landing ship medium passed within 300 yards and they also saw a small plane. Other aircraft were sighted during the first week. Once a freighter appeared briefly on the horizon but frantic waving of a jacket tied on the end of an oar brought no response.

"We fought thirst the first week," the trio said. "Life saving rains came on the eighth day. We used a rubber mat to collect the rain water which we put into a five-gallon gasoline can. It rained the rest of the time and during the last two days there were high winds which had been stirred up by the typhoon in that area."

The trio told how they tried to kill fish by striking them with oars. There were plenty of fish but they were unable to catch even one.

Myers said he used the oars to keep the boat broadside to the wind hoping it would drift as far as Formosa. However, they were handicapped by the tremendous seas kicked up by the typhoon.

"A tremendous wave carried us over the first reef at Miyako island but our boat was smashed on the second reef about three miles from the beach," Myers said.

They finally succeeded in swimming ashore by struggling from rock to rock. Once on the beach they rested and later found some natives who took them to American military government officials.

Court Opens Fall Term On Tuesday

BUCYRUS—The first jury case of the fall term will open in common pleas court Tuesday when the action for an accounting of John Weidenmier, administrator of the estate of Daniel Kissling, against Charles Atha, et al., will open.

The court of appeals will come to Bucyrus Nov. 19 to hear four cases now on file for review by the higher court. The actions to be heard are those of Carl Bayer vs. David E. Sanford; Inez Pfeifer vs. Jessie Fegley; John Q. Shunk vs. Shunk Manufacturing company, and Marvin C. Beach, jr., vs. Madeline Beach.

PILES ARE NEVER MILD
DANGER IN NEGLECT
No one should ever think of piles (hemorrhoids as a "mild" disorder.
Although they may seem a "mild" ailment, especially when not giving pain or inconvenience, piles are in fact tumor formations without tendency to heal themselves, Instead, they are likely, if neglected, to keep increasing in size, involving more and more of the rectal area.
Even a so-called "mild" case may be expected to undermine one's health, by inviting predisposing to or aggravating other ailments, such as: indigestion, biliousness, stomach trouble, constipation, headaches, pain in the back and down the legs, secondary anemia with its rundown tired feeling and general nervous irritability.
Removal of piles is the only permanent relief — written guarantee. My method produces little or no discomfort, does not require the use of knife or drugs, and seldom is the patient required to lose any time from work or other duties.

FOUNDATION HEAD TO SPEAK AT MEET

Arthur W. Binns, of Philadelphia, president of the National Home and Property Owners foundation, will be the guest speaker at a Kiwanis-sponsored luncheon meeting Nov. 21 in the Mansfield-Leland hotel, A. B. Reese, Mansfield representative of the foundation, announced today.

W C. Mansfield, foundation chairman for Richland county, will preside at the meeting, at which will be represented many Mansfield civic and veterans' organizations.

Binns, an exponent of slum and blight clearance through private financing, will discuss the efforts made by the foundation to protect individual rights to own homes, rental units and other real estate.

PTA to Present Artists' Program

For the first time since before the war, the Mansfield PTA council will present an artists' program on Nov. 13 and 14, having arranged with Edwin Strawbridge, actor and dancer, to give "Daniel Boone."

With scenes laid at Boonesboro, Ky, home of the famous American pioneer, and a nearby Indian village, the play with dance accompaniment will be presented by the Strawbridge ballet, featuring early American music and dances apropos to the Boone years in American history.

Strawbridge has appeared in Mansfield before, as a featured dancer with other companies.

Before the war, the PTA council presented a similar program about each two years but nothing has been done in this respect for the past five years.

Strawbridge now has his own company. Last year he gave "Columbus" and the year previous "Johnny Appleseed" Now he will bring his ballet dancers to Mansfield for the pleasure primarily of Mansfield school children. He will appear at John Simpson Junior high on Wednesday at 10 a. m. and again at 2 p. m. He will follow the same schedule at Johnny Appleseed on Thursday. A limited number of tickets will be sold to adults.

Susie Q. Smith

"Why don't they get taller dancers! . . . Then they won't have to dance on tiptoes!"

Housing Committee Gets 4 Proposals

ASHLAND—With four proposals for temporary housing units for veterans of Ashland county already received by the county veterans' housing committee is making efforts to speed erection of some kind of units to house veterans and their families by Christmas.

A priority would be necessary for such early completion however, according to Howard S. Lutz, World War II veteran and chairman of the committee.

The county has been allotted $25,000 by the state for such construction from the six million dollar appropriation. The committee has tentatively recommended double units. Proposals have been submitted by Joseph D'Angelo of Tiffin in conjunction with Don Heter, Ashland plumbing contractor, by Robers Elmer of Mt. Vernon, who submitted two proposals, and by the Wingfoot company of Akron.

Name Fairburn As Draft Board Head

ASHLAND—James Fairburn is newly-appointed chairman of the Ashland county selective service board, succeeding Glenn Falkner, last of the original members of the board, who resigned recently. Fairburn's chairmanship becomes effective as soon as a successor to Falkner is made following recommendation by the governor.

Harry Dotson will serve as vice chairman of the board. Guy Derr is clerk of the board office. Derr has announced the office will be open in the future only Monday through Friday from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m., with a noon closing hour for lunch since Derr has no assistant in the office.

Driver Fined $100, Costs

BUCYRUS — Robert Dutcher, Sycamore, arrested Friday after being involved in two automobile accidents in three hours, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 60 days in the county jail on a charge of failing to stop after an accident.

He was arraigned in mayor's court. The jail sentence was suspended upon condition that the fine be paid in full.

Cars involved in the two accidents were operated by H K Pirnstill and T H Baker. Both cars were considerably damaged.

Confidence

There's no substitute for a name you can trust

We know that you would like more Schlitz than present restrictions on the use of materials will permit us to make. But keeping up with demand is one thing and keeping up quality is another. When choice ingredients are limited, they will make just so much Schlitz. If we attempted to make more beer under such conditions, it wouldn't be Schlitz. It's as simple as that. Schlitz, owned and operated by the Uihlein family for nearly 100 years, never has sacrificed quality for volume and never will. Always, you will find that every bottle of Schlitz fully justifies your confidence in the name it bears.

TALKING IT OVER

Blacky the Crow was flying over the Old Pasture. As always, those sharp eyes of his were watching below and missing little. They picked up a spot of red and he knew what it was long before he was near enough to see more than that bit of color.

"Reddy Fox is taking a nap or a sun bath, or both, on his favorite flat rock," thought Blacky, and changed his line of flight so as to pass directly over that rock.

He wasn't mistaken. Curled up there was Reddy Fox. "Caw, caw, caw!" called Blacky.

Reddy lifted his head to look up. Blacky circled and returned to come down on the ground near Reddy. While not exactly friends, these two have a lot of respect for each other. Each knows the other for what he really is, one of the smartest of all the people in the Green Forest or on the Green Meadows.

"You look lazy, and when Reddy Fox is lazy it means that he has had good hunting and that means good eating," said Blacky.

"You know too much, you black rascal," replied Reddy with a good-natured grin.

Just then a gun banged in the distance and a moment later came the bang of another gun from another direction. "They are at it again," said Blacky.

Reddy nooded. "There are more of them than ever before, a lot more. If you ask me, there are altogether too many of those two-legged hunters," said he.

"Do they spoil your hunting?" asked Blacky.

"No," replied Reddy. "The truth is, I never live so well as when those two-legged hunters are about. The more of them the easier hunting for me. I'm living high these days and all because of those two-legged hunters. Do you know what I had for dinner last night?"

"What?" asked Blacky.

"Grouse," replied Reddy, licking his lips. "If there is any better eating than Grouse I don't know what it is. Do you know what I had for breakfast?"

"What?" asked Blacky.

"Pheasant, and that is just as good eating as Grouse. Do you know what I am going to have for dinner tonight?" replied Reddy.

"What?" asked Blacky.

"Duck," replied Reddy.

"How do you know you are?" Blacky wanted to know.

Just then from over the Big River came the bang, bang, bang, bang of several guns. Reddy grinned. "That is how I know," said he. "The more often I hear those bangs the more sure I am of a good dinner with little trouble.

Blacky cocked his head on one side and eyed Reddy shrewdly. "Why are you so sure?" he wanted to know.

"Because those hunters always hunt birds that get away from them. They don't mean to. They just can't help it. Some of them are so badly hurt that they don't live long. Some have broken wings or broken legs. With a nose like mine, it isn't much trouble to find them, and when found no trouble at all to catch them if still alive. We furred and feathered hunters never do that. No, sir, we never do that," said Reddy.

"Never do what?" asked Blacky.

"Never leave those we have hurt to suffer and perhaps hide away and die where they will do no one any good. No, sir, we don't do that. These two-legged hunters make a lot of suffering. They give us Foxes an easy living while the season lasts and for a little while after, but I'm worried. There are too many of those hunters," declared Reddy.

"Afraid of them?" asked Blacky.

Reddy grinned. "Not for myself," said he, "but for those they hunt. Each year there are more of these two-legged hunters and fewer of those they hunt. One of these days there will be none to be hunted. Something ought to be done about it."

At that very minute one hunter was saying to another. "Birds are getting scarce and it is because there are too many Foxes. Something should be done about it."

The next story: "The Proof."

A new world aviation code is being worked out by 40 nations in order to further greater flying safety.

FRENCH VOTERS GIVE SUPPORT TO COMMUNISTS

Election Outcome Unlikely to Bring Full Left-Wing Government Rule.

PARIS —(AP)— The Communists emerged today as the strongest party in France's new Fourth Republic, but the outcome of yesterday's national election seemed unlikely to bring a strictly left-wing government.

On the basis of incomplete returns from balloting for a national assembly, some new coalition appeared probable in place of the combine of popular Republicans (MRP), Communists and Socialists which controls the current provisional government.

Prior to the election the Communist party and the MRP each promised if elected to shut out the other from any new cabinet, but the election results seemed to have made this impossible.

The Communists ousted President Georges Bidault's MRP from the legislative head, winning back the place they took in the first constituent assembly elected Oct. 21, 1945, and lost in the second election last June 2.

But there seemed little chance they could form a leftist majority in the legislature or in a cabinet. Anti-Marxist parties gained, too, while the Socialists lost heavily. As a result the MRP remained the possible spearhead of a powerful anti-Communist bloc.

Interior ministry figures for 544 deputies elected from continental France and Corsica gave the Communists 166 seats, the MRP 157, the Socialists 90, the leftist rally (mainly radical Socialists) 51, the rightists (Republican Party of Liberty and Gaulist union) 50 and independents 30.

Thus the Communists and Socialists together, provided they could get together, would command 256 votes, while the MRP theoretically could amass 258 with the radical Socialists and rightists, not taking into account the predominantly rightist character of the 30 independents.

In popular votes, incomplete returns gave the Communists 4,966,786, MRP 4,312,281, Socialists 3,132,283, Leftist rally 1,910,086, Republican party of Liberty (PRL) and Rightist affiliates 2,247,413 and minor parties 513,687. The total vote cast was expected to approach 20,000,000.

Socialist Andrew Philip, former finance minister, expressed belief that no one or two parties could get a majority "with the exception of a Communist-MRP coalition, which seems difficult to realize." He predicted "a new tripartism that could be either a Communist - Socialist - MRP coalition or a reconstitution of the former popular front with Communists, Socialists and the Leftist rally."

Individual candidates elected included President-Foreign Minister Bidault; Communist leaders Maurice Thorez and Jacques Duclos; former interim President Felix Gouin, Socialist; prewar Premiers Paul Reynaud, Edouard Herriot and Edouard Aladier, and Rene Capitant, head of the Gaullist union and education minister under the provisional presidency of Gen. Charles De Gaulle.

Brief Illness Ends In Death of Dr. Jensen

MT. GILEAD — Founder and first president of the Mt. Gilead Kiwanis club, Dr. Christian Jensen, 64, died at 7:35 p. m. Saturday at Mansfield General hospital after a brief illness.

Born May 19, 1882, at Pt. Clinton, he came to Mt. Gilead in 1904 after he was graduated from the Baltimore College of Dental Surgery, Baltimore, Md.

Besides the Kiwanis club, Dr. Jensen was a member of the Methodist church and Masonic orders.

He is survived by his wife, Bess E.; two sons, Dwight E., of Atlanta, Ga., and Howard C., of Cincinnati; a daughter, Altabelle Riddle of Cleveland; six grandchildren; two brothers, George of Toledo, and James of Port Clinton; and one sister, Mrs. Emma Babcock.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Tuesday at the Methodist church by Rev. L. Eugene Ruth, pastor. Burial will be at Rivercliff cemetery.

The body is now at Boyd's mortuary where it will remain until noon Tuesday, when it will be taken to the Methodist church and will lie in state until time of services.

NICHOLAS GREMLING

SHELBY — Nicholas Gremling, 65, died suddenly at his home, 51 West Smiley avenue, early Sunday morning.

Born in Delphos, Mr. Gremling had been a resident of Shelby for 49 years and an employe of the Ohio Seamless Tube company during that period. He was a member of the Most Pure Heart of Mary church.

Surviving are his wife, Anna; one son, Donovan of Shelby; three daughters, Mrs. Maxine Henry and Mrs. Margey Swartz, both of Shelby, and Miss Janet Gremling of Detroit; one brother William of Crestline, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Zahner of Shelby, and Mrs. Catherine Nay of Akron; also six grandchildren.

Services at the church Tuesday at 10 a. m. will be conducted by Rev. Michael McFadden, with burial in the Catholic cemetery. Friends may call at the Barkdull funeral home.

ADELBERT S. MILLER

ASHLAND—Services for Adelbert S. Miller, 76, who died Sunday at his home 1308 Elm street, after a lingering illness, will be held Tuesday at 2:30 p. m. at the Church of God with burial in Ashland cemetery. Arrangements are in charge of the Gilbert funeral home.

Mr. Myers, born in Wayne county, Sept. 26, 1870, has lived in Ashland for the past 30 years and was a member of the Church of God. He leaves his wife, Mary Elizabeth; five sons, Cloyd, Marion and Lester of Ashland, Ernest of Polk and Fred of Hayesville; three daughters, Mrs. Mabel Billheimer of Ashland, Mrs. Dorothy Ellington and Mrs. Blanche Billheimer, both of Pleasant Home; 17 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

HARRY KEETLE

ASHLAND—Burial rites were to be conducted at the grave at Ashland cemetery at 4 p. m., today for Harry Keetle, two-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Keetle of Grove avenue, who died Sunday morning at Samaritan hospital where the baby was born Friday.

The child leaves its parents and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Miller and Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Keetle, all of Ashland.

NELL C. NAIRY

CRESTLINE—A resident here for the past 30 years, Niss Nell C. Nary, 68, died suddenly at her home, 114 South Henry street, Sunday at 9:30 a. m.

Born in Rochester, Ohio, May 12, 1878, she is survived by a sister Miss Mac A. Nairy of Wellington.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday at 9 a. m. at St. Joseph's Catholic church. Burial will be at Laport, Ohio. Friends may call at the Beck Funeral home until time of services.

ROBERT WAYNE GANNON

Robert Wayne Gannon, five-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gannon, north of Ashland, died at 5:30 a. m. today at Samaritan hospital.

Born June 1, 1946, he is survived by his parents; two sisters, Evelyn and Barbara, both at home; and four grandparents, Ray Cyphers and Mrs. Jesse Wynn, both of Ashland and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gannon, Polk, R. D. 1.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Robert Andrews, pastor of the Nazarene church, Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Heyl Funeral home. Burial will be in Ashland cemetery.

GRACE SEILER BARRE

NORTH FAIRFIELD—A former teacher in the Shelby and Willard school systems and a private music teacher here for a number of years, Mrs. Grace Seiler Barre, 68, wife of Lee John Barre, died suddenly yesterday at Norwalk Memorial hospital.

Born in Plymouth Feb. 26, 1878, she has been a resident in the area all her life.

She is survived by a daughter, Grace Barre Harvey of North Fairfield and a brother, Ross H. Seiler of New London. She had been pianist for the Methodist church here for 25 years.

Friends may call at the Keiser Home for Funerals, where the body will remain until 1:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. William Stewart at the Methodist church at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday. Burial will be in North Fairfield cemetery. The custom of closed casket will be observed during services.

GUY PATTERSON

MILLERSBURG — Guy Patterson, 71, prominent Holmesville resident, died at Pomerene Memorial hospital at 11:30 a. m. Sunday after a brief illness.

Born in Mechanic township, Holmes county, Mr. Patterson had been head of the Holmesville Lumber company since 1924. He was president of the Holmes county board of education and a member of the selective service board since its organization. Although at the time of his death he was a member of the Federated church at Holmesville, he had previously belonged to the Presbyterian church here and had served as elder of this church for 40 years.

Surviving are his wife, Gertrude Findlay Patterson; three sons, Dr. Owen S. Patterson and Raymond J., both of Millersburg, and Roy C., of Holmesville; four daughters, Mrs. Virgil Lecky, Mrs. Roy Stallman and Mrs. Robert Ramseyer, all of Holmesville, and Mrs. Forrest Weiss of Barrs Mills; also one sister, Mrs. H. E. Miller of Akron; and 15 grandchildren.

The body will be taken from the Elliott Funeral home here at noon Tuesday to the family home where friends may call Tuesday afternoon and evening. Services will be held in the Federated church at 2 p. m. Wednesday with burial in the Holmesville cemetery. Rev. Jesse J. Young, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, and Rev. L. Chester Lewis, of the Federated church, will conduct services. The body will lie in state at the church one hour before services.

EASTERN STAR LISTS OFFICERS

CRESTLINE—Officers for 1947 were elected last week by Harmony chapter, Order of Eastern Star, at Masonic Temple.

Mrs. Robert Taylor was elevated to the chair of worthy matron and will succeed Mrs. C. Park Arter who was elected as a trustee for a three-year term.

Other officers elected were Ernest Linn, worthy patron; Mrs. Ralph Murphy, associate matron; Roy Scott, associate patron; Miss Edna Hoffman, secretary; Mrs. Leonard Waldbauer, treasurer; Mrs. Herbert Speelman, conductress; Mrs. Glen D. Hoffman, associate conductress.

Other officers will be appointed by the new worthy matron before installation which will be held the first meeting in December.

Reports of grand chapter held at Cleveland in October were given by Mrs. Arter and Mrs. Taylor.

Initiation of candidates will feature the next regular meeting, Nov. 21.

Festival Nets Total of $724

BUCYRUS—The annual Crawford county Methodist booth festival last week netted $724.11 in food and cash for the Berea Children's home. The festival was held at Bucyrus First Methodist church and was attended by more than 100 young people of the Methodist Youth Fellowship, sponsors of the project.

Brokensword ranked highest in the contributions with $187 in cash and supplies and was given a recognition plaque. Galion First church, with $150, and New Washington church with $92.55, were second and third place winners.

Election of officers took place during the annual session and those chosen were Wayne Kocher, Epworth church, president; Jean Mc-Vicker, Galion, vice chairman; Lyman Smith, Crestline, secretary-treasurer; commission chairmen, Dathane Evans of Galion, Lola Schaffstall of New Washington, Miss Mary Kathrwn Ludwig of Sycamore, and Misses Margaret Sand of Brokensword; and Miss Lois Lust, Epworth, recreational co-chairman.

Rev. Alva B. Miller of Crestline, was reelected county counselor.

A truck took the canned foods to Berea Friday.

SPRINGFIELD SCHOOL TO PRESENT PLAYS

Springfield township school will present two one-act plays Friday with music provided during the intermission by the Boys' Glee Club and orchestra.

"The Little Red Schoolhouse" is a rough-house in a school room. Wisecracks are hurled across the classroom as often as blackboard erasers. The play is an amusing satire on the schoolroom and its occupants. The cast include La Donna Rader, Jack Mentzer, June Hastings, Beverly Hellinger, Kenneth Livingston, Donald Miller, Bob Schraedly, Herbert McBride, Dave Sunnucks, Norma Henke, Betty Hock, Mary Gilliom, Juanita Downs and Janice Kleilein.

The other play, "Stoney's Brides," concerns a young veteran who finds upon the day before his wedding that he is already married to a French girl. Members of the cast are Earl Dalenberg, Jack Mentzer, Annie Rogers, Janee Kleilein, Jean Kreger, Rita Parkinson, Betty Hock, Mary Jane Farst and Janice Kleilein.

Mrs. Olan Aughbaugh is music director; Miss Berniece Trumbull, play director and Mrs. Richard Casad, senior advisor.

EXECUTIVE RETURNS

BUCYRUS — Mrs. Helen Weaver, Bucyrus Red Cross executive secretary, will report on the three weeks' training course at Alexandria, Va., eastern area headquarters, from which she recently returned, at a directors' meeting Tuesday night. Directors will also draw up plans to offer services of the Red Cross chapter to veterans and their families.

Daughter of Governor-Elect Herbert To Become Ohio's Youngest First Lady

(Central Press Writer.)

CLEVELAND — The Republicans made history in more ways than one when they upset Ohio Democrats in the Nov. 5 election.

They carried into office a man whose daughter will be the Buckeye state's youngest first lady in at least 50 years and perhaps in Ohio's history.

She is Mrs. Metta Stevers, 23-year-old daughter of Gov.elect Thomas J. Herbert of Cleveland.

The attractive brunet with the deep brown eyes emphasizes that the important thing was her father's victory because she believes implicitly in him and his ability to be chief executive of Ohio.

As far as being his hostess in the governor's mansion in Columbus is concerned, she will be striving for success as much for her mother as for her father.

Mrs. Herbert died only last December, shortly after her husband announced his intentions to seek the governorship in this election.

"I only hope to be as gracious as mother would have been," Mrs. Stevers said. "Mother was a charming, socially-inclined person and she would have loved this sort of thing."

Marker is Inspiration.

Speaking softly of the woman whose place she reluctantly will take, Mrs. Stevers said much of her inspiration would come from memories of her mother.

Life will be as home-like in the gubernatorial mansion as possible despite the priority sometimes of important social affairs.

The Herberts will get back to being a family again for the first time in months. The new governor and his daughter have seen each other in recent months as they passed one another on campaign trips throughout the state.

Mrs. Stevers hopes, for several reasons, that the traveling will end, at least for her, when she gets settled. Her husband, Capt. C. Lewis Stevers, will be at home after nearly two years' service overseas in the Army Medical Corps.

Captain Stevers' home-coming on the eve of the election for the first time in 16 months was just about as exciting as the impending election. In fact, Mrs. Stevers could not decide which she wanter to talk about most. So she wound up with a compromise.

"He will set up private practice somewhere in Ohio but we haven't decided where. Meanwhile, we'll stay with Dad. You see," she explained, "that will make four of us at home, including my brother, Dan, a student at Ohio State university in Columbus."

Ohio State played an important part in the life of the state's new first lady. Not only did she graduate from the State university's school of nursing to become a registered nurse, but she met her husband there.

She was in training at the time and he was interning. They were married Sept. 16, 1944, but she continued in training until she graduated.

Mrs. Stevers also credits that training for helping her while she was helping her father campaign for governor.

"It was my first campaign," she related. "I was in school when Dad ran for attorney general. I tried to keep all my campaigning on the personal side, though.

"People like to discuss their problems," she continued, "how many grandchildren they have and occasionally their physical ailments. That's where my nurse's training proved useful."

Musical Family.

Although Mrs. Stevers mentioned nursing frequently, she also expressed her love of music, which is shared by her entire family.

"When Dad is at home, we sing as a quartet, with him playing the piano. Johnny, my brother at Culver Military academy and who is 16, usually takes the lead and we sing around him.

"Other times when Dad is away, we three make up a trio."

If their plans work out, they will be singing as a quartet Thanksgiving for the first time in several months.

Dan will move to the mansion and Johnny will be at home from Culver. They hope to make the occasion a holiday such as any family would enjoy.

The frequency with which she mentioned her brothers proved Mrs. Steves' statement that she could not talk about herself alone.

"Our family is too closely knit," she explained. "We always have been and the music gives us even more pleasure together."

Then she gae a faint sigh.

"So you can see how we'll welcome an opportunity to settle down for abit. Why, in between the campaigning I've been doing for Dad, I've been doing some rushing at OSU for the Delta Gammas, to which I belonged there."

Ohioans can take one tip on their new first lady.

If they ever want to know anything about their governor, to which church he belongs, whether he is a Mason, or any other fact like that, Mrs. Stevers always will be accessible.

And she will give the answers with the same friendly interest with which they are sought.

CAMPAIGNING ended and Mrs. Stevers finds time to relax with a book and the family pet, "Tiny." Her job as Ohio's First Lady starts Jan. 1.

GALION OBSERVES 'EDUCATION WEEK'

GALION—In Galion the observance of American Education week in the public school system, which begins this week, will place emphasis on classroom visitation by parents, special programs, classroom activities, assemblies, and talks over the public address system dealing with the various topics.

A teacher - parent visitation period is to be set aside in each of the buildings in connection with the regular parents and teachers meetings to be held this month. This is the third year for these parent - teacher conference periods which have been held with increasing interest.

The general theme is "Education for the Atomic Age" with daily topics as follows: today, "Building World Security;" Nov. 12, "Facing New Tasks;" Nov. 13, "Developing Better Communities;" Nov. 14, "Strengthening Home Life;" Nov. 15, "Investing In Education;" Nov. 16, "Promoting Health and Safety."

ADARIO

A pie and box social will be held Wednesday at 8 p. m. in Adario Town hall, M. S. Wolf, chairman of the PTA, sponsors of the social, said today.

Moving pictures will be shown by G. L. Rogers of Mansfield, and music will be furnished by the Mansfield K. P. band, Wolf said. Proceeds of the social are to go toward a school lunch kitchen.

LOUDONVILLE

About twenty or twenty-five writers of "outdoors" and their families held a conservation field day at the C. D. Blubaugh farm near Danville last week to observe first hand how conservation farming will pay off in everyday farming. Blubaugh accompanied his outdoor guests on a motorized wagon inspection trip over his farm. He also talked briefly about his recent trip abroad where he studied farm conditions in England, Germany, France and Italy.

* * *

The Loudonville Buick company is now in theh process of remodeling its front office. The front service entrance is being eliminated and a show room will be lined with chestnut.

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 11
Armistice Day

Now, in the days of our second modern era of peace, may those deprived of renewed associations take comfort in knowing that personalities cannot be separated from the life of a community of which they were, are, and will forever be a part. The influence of the lives of heroes never terminates.

Shortly before he died at sea, Nile Kinnick, an all-American football star of Iowa University, wrote to a friend

"Let us hope that you and I and many, many others like us, will be enabled some day somewhere, somehow, to contribute in some small way to the peace and progress of this world. There is nothing wrong with dreams provided foundations are put under them. Thumbs up!".

Thus, he referred to the American principles of individual freedom and equality of action. By "building foundations under dreams" our forebears fashioned this magnificent new world in the amazingly short time of 170 years (1776-1946)

May Americans always understand that our vast national wealth is worthless without the self-maintenance of our rights as individuals to keep on building foundations under dreams.

VETS TO PARADE IN DOWNTOWN AREA TONIGHT

Ex-Servicemen Head City's 28th Armistice Program, Banks, Schools Close.

squad left the Legion home to march to Central park for the 11 a. m. service.

There a wreath was placed on the Doughboy monument by Mrs. Earl Lemley, chaplain of the Legion auxiliary. Following this annual rite, Commander McCullough read the ritual. A final three-volley salute closed the morning tribute to the dead.

* * *

1400 Hear Swoyer.

Observance of Armistice day began last night at the First English Lutheran church when Dr. Grover E. Swoyer, former chaplain of McVey post, American Legion, spoke to about 1400 on the topic "Sweet Land of Liberty."

"America was discovered in God's time," Dr. Swoyer said, "to fulfill God's purpose. We in America must keep faith with that purpose by strengthening our home life by strengthening our religious life and by becoming more tolerant."

A men's chorus, under the direction of Legionnaire John C. Klinger, sang, "Send Out Thy Light," by Gounod, and "Our Native Land," by Bourne. The offertory solo was presented by Richard Wright, World War II veteran, who sang, "Christ Went Into the Hills," by Hageman.

While the audience sang, "The Star Spangled Banner," the colors were posted at the beginning of the service and near its close taps were sounded by Legionnaire C. V. Scholl and Floyd Maglott. Retirement of the colors followed.

62 Died In Year.

The service at the church paid tribute to 62 veterans who have been reported dead since Nov. 11, 1945. Eight had fought in the Spanish American war, 24 in World War I and 30 in the recent conflict.

Only retail stores and industrial plants opened for business this morning.

During the day and tonight after the parade, open house will be observed at the various veterans headquarters. A dance starts at 8 p. m. at the Legion home and there will be free dancing at the Armory where the VFW has taken over for the day.

For Tuesday, November 12.

The sidereal operations for this day encourage the combination of the talents, forces, faculties and skills in the direction of cherished goals, with enhanced possibilities for building up finances, credit, popularity and prestige. The element of friendship, professional, social or financial, should have decided influence on lasting results, but use definite alertness to deceit, intrigues, subtle entanglements or emotional instability. Weigh all propositions and contacts with utmost discretion and tact.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is are in line for an exceptionally productive and lucrative year, with much promise of reaching desired goals, with personal hopes and wishes fulfilled. There should be gratifying growth in personal and social popularity and prestige, but suppress an inclination toward extravagance, prodigality, over-generosity and excesses. Also, such procedure is likely to attract the wrong sort of cooperation, with intrigue, duplicity, craft and possibly emotional upsets or spiritual crises. Keep alert and calm.

A child born on this day has excellent prospects for a successful and happy career, with honors and promotion. But this may be jeopardized by a too trusting and confiding nature.

WINDSORS IN U. S. JUST FOR 'VISIT'

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—The Duke of Windsor, who brought his American-born Duchess here aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth today, said that he had no plans other than a "good visit" in the United States and that he and the Duchess would return to England in May.

The smiling Duke and Duchess, who said they had "an extremely pleasant and comfortable voyage," received fifty reporters, photographers and newsreel men in an interview in the richly appointed Verandah Grill on the sun deck of the Queen Elizabeth two hours after the vessel had docked at her midtown pier.

The Duke said that there was "absolutely nothing" to reports that his visit here was in connection with an offer of a British government post.

AUTO CRASH KILLS SEVEN IN ONE FAMILY

ILLIOPOLIS, Ill.—(INS)—The death of seven members of one family in an automobile-train collision near Illiopolis was investigated by county and railroad officials today.

The seven persons were killed last night when their car was struck by an Illinois terminal railroad train.

They were William Witherell, 43, driver of the car; his wife, 38; his daughter, Melva, 12; his three sons, Billy, 12, Eugene, 21 and Donald, 6, and Witherell's father, 75.

Navy Vet Saves Druggist's Life

COLUMBUS —(U.P.)— John T. Cummis' condition was only fair in a Columbus hospital today after he was pulled from the Scioto river in a quick-witted rescue by Navy Veteran Orville Graham, 24.

Graham went hand over hand down a rope in the water yesterday and held Cummins head above the surface until firemen arrived. Fireman Ed Hart, 32, helped Graham pull Cummins out. Cummins, 52, is a Columbus druggist.

DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Veterans Fly At City Port

only production seems to be holding up the show."

Of the veterans taking training, about 75 per cent are doing so "because they realize the future of aviation and want to be in on it with their own planes," Droz, chief instructor, said. "About 25 per cent of the men training are in it for keeps," he added.

"Take John Haley, for example," Droz continued. "He is learning to fly before returning to college to complete his dental training because he intends to set up practice in the far north where he will have to fly in and out of the places he visits."

* * *

Seek More Women.

"Donald Miller hopes to be a transport pilot, while S/Sgt. Thomas Ferrall and Sgt. Roland Hilborn, of the Mansfield Recruiting center, are getting their wings during their free time from recruiting," Droz said.

"Recent graduates from the school have been well placed," Droz continued. "There is a great future in college aviation, I believe."

"We would like to see more women taking an active part in aviation out here," officials said. "The age of air should find the women flying side by side with the men."

Chief Mechanic Paul Guthrie reported, "I have a staff of five mechanics, all ex GI's. Earl Frontz, Fred Scarlott, Tom Cripe, Russell Schoonover and Verdis Roberts all saw active service in the army or navy."

"Frontz has completed his flight training and the others are all set to do the same thing," Guthrie added.

* * *

Pilots Lounge Finished.

"We have just completed work on a new pilot's lounge and conference room which will greatly facilitate the handling of training," R. E. Owens, flight operations manager, said as he led the way to a cheery, light-colored lounge and into a conference room with desk and chairs.

PIANIST OPENS CONCERT SEASON

The 1946-47 season of the Mansfield Civic Music association opens tonight with the appearance here of Leon Fleisher, pianist, in the first of four concerts to be presented this fall and winter by noted artists.

Tonight's program will begin at 8:15 p. m. at John Simpson junior high school.

Fleisher, 17-year-old "find" of Dr. Arthur Schnabel, has chosen for his presentation tonight, one composition each from Mozart, Schubert, von Weber, Busoni and three from Chopin.

Fleisher's first number, "Sonata in F major," by Mozart, will be given in three movements. It will be followed by the "Wanderer Fantasy" by Schubert in three movements. The fantasy is based on Schubert's immortal song, "The Wanderer."

For his third group, Fleisher will play "Invitation to the Dance", the always popular melody by Carl Maria von Weber, and the "Kammer Fantasie uber 'Carmen'", by Ferrucio Busoni.

The three Chopin compositions will be included in the third group and will include: "Mazurka in c sharp minor, Opus 53"; "Etude in E major, Opus 10, No. 3" and "Scherzo in C sharp minor, Opus 39".

Work Begins On Atomic Air Motor

WASHINGTON —(U.P.)— Army air force progress on an atomic aircraft engine has reached the point where an initial development contract has been awarded a large airplane company, it was disclosed today.

The project still is in the earliest experimental stages, however, and many problems must be solved before the engine reaches even the test stage.

Stecker Appointed Head of Battalion

Frederick Stecker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Stecker, 74 Park avenue west, has been appointed commanding officer of battalion 50 of the organized naval reserve with headquarters in Columbus. The battalion includes three divisions of 36 officers and 600 enlisted men.

Stecker held the rank of commander in the navy and participated in five invasions. He is now manager of the Ohio Union at Ohio State university.

WHY A SOAP SHORTAGE?

You've Heard Rumors. Here Are the Facts!

1. There is a world-wide shortage of animal fats and of vegetable oils. This shortage affects all of us. For instance, this year soapmakers have been able to obtain only one fifth of the imported oils they used in 1941—far less domestic fats, too.

2. Because of the world-wide shortage, manufacturers are unable to get the amount of fats and oils they need to make not only soaps, but also paints, textiles, tires, leather goods, floor coverings, electrical appliances, etc.

3. In the face of these conditions, American soap manufacturers have done their utmost. They have turned all the fats and oils they have been able to obtain into soap just as quickly as possible.

4. But for the help of American housewives, the shortage of soap would have been far more serious. Last year, more than one out of every nine packages of soap sold was made from used fats saved in America's kitchens.

5. Don't blame your grocer. He is doing his best, like the soapmakers, to get more soap for you. Won't you do your best by saving and turning in every drop of used fats.

Pledge of Allegiance to Flag

"I pledge allegiance to the Flag of the United States of America and to the Republic for which it stands, one Nation indivisible, with liberty and justice for all."

Armistice Day Has Deeper Meaning

IT IS A TRAGIC but honest reflection that Armistice day was appropriately named. November 11, 1918, marked the beginning of a truce which finally exploded into the second World war. A few people have suggested that Armistice day now be merged with an observance of the end of World War II in a national Victory day. What comes of this idea, or how the veterans of the earlier war would react to it, remains to be seen.

But there is merit in the observance of Armistice day as it is. The day now has a double significance. Besides paying homage to World War I veterans, it brings solemn reflection upon the men who gave their lives "To make the world safe for democracy" and then were cheated in death by a world which could not learn to compose its differences without slaughter.

Armistice day is rightly a time of celebration for the doughboys who, in the intervening decades since the defeat of the kaiser's armies, have become leading citizens of the community. It is a time for parades and reminiscences and . . . taps.

And for the veterans of World War II the day now has a deeper and truer meaning than ever before. A war is behind them, too. They realize fully just what the occasion means to their fathers, uncles and older friends who were "vets" before many an ex-GI was born.

Indeed just now Armistice day is coming into the period of its richest importance. Memorial day, in the spring, is taking on a misty aura with just about the last of the Civil war veterans gone. The Victory days of World War II are still young in memory. But Armistice day brings back both gay and sad recollections to a large segment of the community for whom the first war with Germany came as a sharp and vivid interruption in the course of their youth.

'Free Enterprise' To Undergo Test

WIPEOUT of all OPA price controls—except on housing rentals, sugar and rice—came with startling suddenness, on the heels of last Tuesday's election, which apparently expressed a preference for such procedure.

This serves to restore operation of the law of supply and demand, which President Truman says he believes will "from now on, serve the people better than would continued regulation of prices by the government."

Quite naturally, with return to a "free market," the government's futile effort to control wages is also to be dropped, returning this troublesome problem to the processes of collective bargaining, in the case of organized labor, and employe-employer agreement in other instances.

Readjustment of producers, distributors, workers and consumers to this restored freedom will provide an interesting study of operation of the "free enterprise" system under the temporary condition of commodity supplies being insufficient to meet demands.

Any further upswing of prices may be expected to bring demands for more devalued dollars of pay for work . . . and so, on and on, until present dangerous inflation becomes disastrous.

Avoidance of such a calamity will take more intelligence than has yet been shown by government, or by the directing heads of contending economic forces, all of whom seem to see only small segments of the vast national picture rather than visioning it as a whole.

Application of rent controls only to residential property has already opened the way for rent jumps in business property that, in frequent instances, appear far out of line with original investment and upkeep costs . . . sometimes working hardship on long-time proprietors of small businesses whose income cannot be boosted to meet the higher rental.

Experience after the first World war, when unrestrained manipulators of the sugar market found a way to temporarily skyrocket the retail price of that commodity to around 30 cents a pound, may account for the effort to retain price control on this item for the time being. Only those who are thus deprived of an opportunity for profiteering are likely to oppose this action.

People Appreciate High School Band

WHATEVER may be the public attitude toward "tag days" in general, as a means of raising funds for various worthy enterprises, there can be no doubt that the traditional "tag day" conducted for the benefit of the Mansfield high school band continues to gain friendly acceptance and support.

The fact that receipts from Saturday's band "tag day" totaled more than one thousand dollars is ample evidence of the willingness of many thousand Mansfielders to contribute to the upkeep costs of this musical organization, which plays an important part in high school and community activities.

Considering the extent to which a fine appearing, well directed band is deemed essential to football games and other athletic events, it seems strange that a part of the considerable funds derived from school athletics should not be allotted to purchase of uniforms and other band requirements. This is a matter of interest to all supporters of Mansfield schools, rather than that the Band Parents' club should be required to shoulder responsibility for financing purchase of band uniforms and other maintenance costs.

Time Sometimes Marches Slowly

"IN ANY CENSUS," runs a passage in T. G. Wilson's new book, Victorian Doctor, "there are more women stating their ages as between 20 and 25 than there were girls of ages between 10 and 15 a decade earlier."

Does this throw any light on what would happen if women took a greater share in government? Could there never be a woman president because no woman would ever acknowledge the necessary thirty-five years?

Post-election thought by Eleanor Roosevelt: "A defeat really is of little importance . . . From my own point of view, being out of office has always been a pleasant situation"—which should console a couple of million surplus federal officeholders.

A new shortage is gradually developing among meat, butter and milk buyers—money.

Fulbright Irks the Arkansas Clique By Proposing That Truman Resign

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Senator Fulbright's proposal that President Truman step down has thrown the Arkansas brain trust at the White House into a spasm. They take it as a personal insult, a move aimed directly at their near monopoly-hold on Truman.

Most people don't realize it, but Arkansans have actually edged out Missourians when it comes to White House brain-trusters.

Leslie Biffle, secretary of the senate and closest friend Truman has, is from Arkansas. John Steelman, the war reconverter, was born and reared in Arkansas though more latterly claimed by Alabama. John Snyder, secretary of the treasury, spent all his life as an Arkansas bank-teller until moving to Missouri recently.

For a long time this group has kept its Arkansas colleague Senator Fulbright pretty much out in the cold. He had married a Pennsylvanian, lived a long time in London, and just didn't rate as an Arkansan any more. All jobs for the state were handed out by the White House clique, usually operating through Senator McClellan, the other Arkansas senator. Fulbright got nothing.

So now the Arkansas boys are claiming that Fulbright merely is piqued, proposes that Truman step down because he is jealous and job-hungry. All in all, there's a terrific stew among Arkansans in the nation's capital.

Note—Those who know Fulbright don't concur that jealousy is behind his move for a Republican in the White House. Actually, Fulbright pioneered the most important policy this nation has adopted in years—the resolution adopted during the war whereby world cooperation became the fixed policy of both political parties. Fulbright's far-sighted statesmanship is largely responsible for Senator Vandenberg's participation at the conference in Paris and New York.

"Fired-By-Truman" Club.

Former Secretary of Commerce Henry Wallace and former Assistant Attorney General O. John Rogge met unexpectedly in the corridor of a Seattle hotel the other day. Both men had been fired by President Truman, after their suppressed views were aired by this columnist.

"Well," Wallace said, "welcome to my club."

"I'm glad to sign up with you," replied the ex-justice department attorney.

"You and I can both thank Drew Pearson for our being out of the government," Wallace said.

"Yes," Rogge agreed.

"And I think we both ought really to thank Drew," Wallace continued. "It didn't hurt us a bit."

"Yes," concluded Rogge, "we should both feel grateful. I've never felt so happy now that I'm out of the government."

Revamping Wagner Act.

Members of the National Labor Relations Board are now holding a significant session which may bring changes in that most controversial of domestic questions, the Wagner Labor Relations Act. In fact, the NLRB may beat the GOP congress to the draw and take the initiative in changing the magna charta of organized labor.

Unquestionably sour labor relations were a root cause of the election turnover, and many GOP congressmen are pledged to remedy it.

Members of the NLRB, therefore, have summoned a conference of 25 lawyers representing labor and 25 lawyers representing management for a frank discussion of what's wrong with the Wagner Act.

Following this discussion, some members of the board propose going to Senator Wagner and suggesting that, as one of the crowning moves of his long and distinguished career, he propose certain changes in the act himself. Leader of this inside move is Jim Reynolds, brother of war correspondent Quentin Reynolds and Truman's latest appointee on the board.

Chief proposals under consideration have to do with placing more responsibility on labor's doorstep and giving employers redress against labor for irresponsible acts.

The two most important proposals so far suggested are:

1. When a union violates a contract, it can be held just as responsible as a violating employer.

2. Employers, as well as labor, should be able to ask for a vote on union recognition and on strikes

Note—This is the first time the NLRB has seriously proposed opening the Wagner Act for revision. Hitherto, revision was shunned on the ground that once reopened, labor enemies would gut the entire act.

Nimitz and the Irish.

The Irish of Notre Dame tried to make a football rooter for their side out of Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, grandson of a German-American hotel-keeper, by giving him an honorary degree just before the Navy-Notre Dame game in Baltimore.

However, the treatment didn't take. Nimitz showed up for the game an even more enthusiastic Navy rooter than before. The admiral said he was out to "get revenge" on Frank Leahy, the Notre Dame football coach, for defeating him in three or four horseshoe matches in South Bend.

The South Bend matches proved a conclusive win for Leahy, a navy physical education officer during the war, for he had bested Nimitz in a previous match at Pearl Harbor.

"Leahy pulled a fast one on me at South Bend," alibied Nimitz with a wink. "We were playing partners and he picked a better partner."

Note—Since the Irish footballers came out on top, Nimitz is thinking of getting revenge by challenging their coach to another horseshoe duel.

Political Chaff.

President Roosevelt had an old saying. "Let me know how big the campaign contributions to the party are in the last days of the fight, and I will tell you who will win."

The Democrats took in $300,000 of big contributions in the last three days—but this time it didn't work.

An Armistice Day Poem

By ANNE CAMPBELL

Under a blanket of cool earth they lie,
The heroes of a war designed to shed
The benison of peace on every head.
They shared with us a cloudless morning sky,
But did not live to see the sun of noon.
Secure in the dear thought that peace would come.
They were content to leave the joys of home,
And fight the bitter fight and die too soon.

The Armistice did not result in peace
Tall sons who never saw their fathers must Take up the battle cry. Wars cannot cease
Unless men stop their scheming and distrust.
With thoughts of our beloved dead, we pray
For world-wide peace upon this holy day.

Dave Boone Says:

I SEE where Molotov went to Washington and called on President Truman. I suppose they compared notes on revolts and some time in the chat Molotov said, "Now, Harry, you, really understand about the veto power."

Science came out with a big improvement in penicillin 48 hours after election, but it was too late to help the Democrats, who are accusing the Republicans of holding it back.

Assignment: America

—By KENNETH L. DIXON

This Explains Why Truman Won't Quit.

WASHINGTON — There was considerable uproar during the week-end about the suggestion of Democratic Senator J. William Fulbright, the Arkansas traveler, that President Truman appoint a Republican secretary of state and then resign—leaving the latter automatically in the White House.

The suggestion has received support from some surprising quarters, including Publisher Marshall Field of the Chicago Sun.

Nevertheless, you can write it down in your little book that the odds are about 50 to one against it happening—no matter how much national unanimity it might bring about.

There are three main reasons:

1—Harry Truman never has been a quitter.

2—Turning the total government over to the dominant party would be a flat admission that the British scheme of things is superior to ours.

3—Such a move today would do more to undermine the American system of democratic government than all the "isms" put together.

And Republicans, as well as Democrats, realize those things.

The first point needs no enlargement to those persons who know how long Harry Truman labored to pay off debts accumulated by an unwise business enterprise. He had been in Washington a long time before the last payment finally was made. He could have taken out bankruptcy. Plenty of people did. He didn't.

The second point involves Fulbright and Field—who possibly didn't realize that what they were recommending stemmed largely from their English education and environment.

For purposes of identification, a little biography is pertinent:

Fulbright, forty-one-year-old Fayetteville, Ark., native was a Rhodes scholar. He spent approximately three years in England attending Oxford and becoming acquainted with the British system of government. Apparently he learned to appreciate it—in the fashion of transplanted Yanks of the twenties.

Field not only received a large portion of his formal education in England, but has spent considerable time there, and also appears to have developed a healthy respect for the British system.

That is not said idly, for what they suggest is almost identical with the English method of government control. The prime minister—who, for all practical purposes, approximates our president—remains in power only as long as the party he represents is dominant.

Once that party loses an election, he automatically is replaced.

It is neither this correspondent's privilege nor prerogative to say which system is best. But I can point out that the American system always has permitted the executive branch of government to belong to one party even though the legislative branch belonged to another.

There are those who think that the Founding Fathers believed that to be a pretty good check-and-balance arrangement . . . Concerning the third aforementioned point, let's look at the possibilities.

Most of the suggestions have been to the effect that President Truman should appoint Senator Vandenberg secretary of state before he resigns—that is, literally speaking, appoint him president.

Now this correspondent (strictly a Mugwump, personally) happens to believe that Senator Vandenberg is one of the finest statesmen who ever hit Capitol Hill. But I'd hate to see him become president by that route.

For one thing, the senator was elected by only a tiny percentage of the nation's populace. A president should be elected by all.

For another, even those who voted for Vandenberg as senator did not necessarily say they wanted him for president. So even they might prefer that he not be pushed into the position.

But most important of all, men appointed to a presidential cabinet (which includes the secretary of state, heir apparent to the White House throne if the first president is dead and the new president resigns), do not have to be elected officials at all. They can be strictly appointive.

That means that the president could appoint, as secretary of state and his successor, a gangster such as Al Capone, a labor leader such as John L. Lewis, a capitalist such as J. P. Morgan or a newspaperman named Nixon.

And how would you like to have ME for president?

Okay . . . Neither would Harry Truman. That's why he isn't going to abdicate.

One Man's Opinion

CHIANG-KAI-SHEK has ordered his troops to "cease fire" except where there is an enemy to fire on. This means an end to the civil war in China in all places where there isn't any.

If that sounds confusing consider the case of Kathleen Winsor who is married to Artie Shaw and is being divorced by Robert Herwig.

The title of Miss Winsor's next book should be "Forever Confused" or "Bride of Two Cities."

Daily Bible Thought

But with many of them God was not well pleased.—I Cor. 10:5.

Thomas L. Stokes

Boss Control of Big Cities Rebuked.

WASHINGTON—How disrupted and shaken the Democratic party was left by last week's election hurricane becomes more apparent with analysis of the complete returns.

In recent years Democrats have had to rely for their victories on a combination of the Solid South and the big city vote of eastern and industrial midwest states where labor was a potent factor.

Midwestern farmers, who had rallied to Franklin D. Roosevelt when depression brought them low, long ago began to desert the Democratic party when they became prosperous again from New Deal farm-relief measures.

One of the most significant things in the election was the way the once handsome Democratic majorities in the big cities were whittled down until in some cases they almost disappeared.

This was one of the most disturbing results to Democratic strategists as they studied the returns.

The Kelly machine in Chicago and Cook county, once so dependable for the Democrats, was badly hit when a resurgent Republicanism not only recaptured four Cook county seats, but, what is more important for the machine, regained key county posts.

This gives Republicans a foothold for their attempt to win the mayor's office from Ed Kelly next spring. Boss Frank Hague suffered in Jersey City where his majority was greatly reduced. The new Pendergast machine in Kansas City was rudely checked in its comeback drive, despite the helping hand of President Truman in earlier primary successes. It held on to only one post in Jackson county.

Important nationally, too, was the failure of the Democratic organization in New York City to turn in the necessary quota to offset the upstate vote. Gov. Thomas E. Dewey ate great chunks out of the usual heavy Democratic city vote.

The same law of diminishing returns operated in other cities—Boston, St. Louis, Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles.

The influence that big-city bosses had acquired in national party management was demonstrated two years ago when Mayor Kelly, Boss Hague, Ed Flynn of the Bronx, and Bob Hannegan of St. Louis, now national chairman, forced the dropping of Henry Wallace as vice presidential candidate and the nomination of Harry Truman.

Weakening of the big city bosses indicates that the southerners now will assume the major role in the party, making for conservatism. The city machines yielded to progressivism of necessity, to some degree, because of the voters upon whom they depended.

It can be reported that some southerners of the extreme conservative bent accepted this election with smiling complacency.

The reduction of CIO influence in party affairs is most welcome to dominant economic interests which have so large a voice in the southern wing of the party.

The antagonism of these interests toward the CIO has been intensified in recent months by the appearance of CIO organizers outside of their plants in the South. They interpret the election to mean curbs on labor generally in the next congress.

It will suit a good many southerners just as well to have Republicans control congress. That is no secret. It isn't exactly the spirit that builds up a winning political party, nor will it be too pleasing to many people in the South who have benefited from New Deal measures.

But it is, as they say, "practical and realistic."

Marquis Childs

President Truman COULD Resign—But Won't.

NEW YORK — From Senator Fulbright of Arkansas comes the "suggestion" that President Truman resign. This has a fine, logical sound. The voters repudiated Mr. Truman and, therefore, he should not remain in office as a lame-duck president for another two years.

At first glance it seems to be a way out of the narrow cage of the Constitution. There is nothing in the Constitution to prevent the president from naming a Republican as secretary of state.

There is nothing to prevent him from resigning and thereby allowing the Republican secretary of state to become president.

Let's say that the president names Vandenberg as secretary of state. It would be a logical choice since Vandenberg has pioneered the Republican co-operation with Secretary Byrnes' foreign policy.

Vandenberg becomes president. Logically then, he might put Byrnes back in the office of secretary of state to carry out the policy on which both Republicans and Democrats agree. That should be productive of real harmony in our approach to the world.

But it's when you come to examine the practical aspects of such a shift, that the difficulties are apparent. First of all is the question of how President Truman would pick his Republican successor. The man he named would inevitably have a big head-start in the 1948 race.

Choosing his own cabinet and his own administrative assistants, the new Republican president would almost assure himself of nomination and re-election two years from now unless he bungled his opportunities in the most hopeless way.

One proposal is that President Truman call on the Republicans in the house and senate to agree on a man. The rivalries within the GOP, however, are so intense that it is hard to see how any agreement could be reached.

A Republican chosen without such an agreement might find himself facing even a tougher congress than Mr. Truman faces. The Republican majority would be certain to resent the fact that a Democratic president had named his Republican successor.

Plainly, the proposal is not nearly so practical as it seems at first sight to be. You come smack up against the harsh fact that it is a real advantage to the Republicans to keep Mr. Truman pinned in office as a lame duck for the next two years. It is a political advantage that adds a lot to their chances for 1948.

The Republican majorities will have power without responsibility. Poor Mr. Truman will have responsibility without power. That is what happens under our system when the executive and the legislative branches are divided between the two parties.

While the Republican majorities may balk and obstruct, they can duck the blame and point the finger of scorn at the president.

They can spend the legislative time digging up the dead past and waving it in the political breeze.

In the aftermath of the election there is earnest talk of cooperation for the good of the nation. One can only hope to God that it materializes.

Anyone who is candid must admit that the prospects for such cooperation are not bright.

Farmer's Diary: "Guarding Water Supply."

DAMS hold back water and give it time to settle and drop the sediment that may be in it. And so the lake fills up with silt, after a few years. Some of the finest valley land was formed, in this way, at first, when beavers lived wild in our streams, and threw their dams of fallen trees and twigs across to guard their breeding grounds.

A man who lived near us built a dam across a narrow gorge so that the water was 16 feet deep at the dam breast. He had it stocked with fish and they did fine until a lumber company bought the big woods a half mile upstream and logged it all away. The absentee owners then turned cattle and sheep into the fields of stumps and they ate off every green shoot. Fields beyond were poorly farmed. Torrents of muddy water ran down into the little watercourse. Soon the game fish no longer could be found. The water became shallower. Now—ten years or more later—it is just a swamplike expanse, and no doubt it will eventually dry up, except during the spring freshets.

The point is that it takes cooperation among farmers and land owners to make a successful water control plan anywhere. The government has spent millions of dollars for big dams—but to have them permanently successful the agriculture of the vicinity must be looked after, too. During every winter thaw, spring freshet, or summer shower, thick muddy water torrents downstream to the lake above the dam.

Most of its load of gravel, sand and silt is left upon the lake floor. The sad fact is that by the time these dams are all paid for, in some places, they will be obsolete.

Trees have a necessary place—grasses make a thick sod that holds the moisture safely. Poor farming, strip mining and overgrazing do the damage. Most farmers do not think the matter through.

Would it not be just good business for the government or the municipality that will be most interested in a lake of clear, clean water to purchase strips of acreage along the water courses that feed the lake and plant fast-growing forest trees there? Such a plan would insure greater permanency to the water supply and furnish another source of income as years go on.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Today is Armistice day. The armistice which brought an end to World War I was signed in Marshal Foch's railway coach, near Rethondes—in the forest of Compiegne, France—on November 11, 1918.

DEVERS GIVES UNIT SETUP OF RESERVE CORPS

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—Gen. Jacob L. Devers, army ground forces commander, announced here the locations of ground organized reserve corps units activated since World War II. The units have a total of nearly 1,000,000 officers and men.

The organized reserve corps is a federally-controlled reserve capable of mobilization at any time. Its units will be trained in time of peace for rapid mobilization, expansion and deployment.

Devers said there were approximately 455,000 officers and 525,000 enlisted men signed up for the enlisted reserve corps. About 72 per cent of them are ground force personnel and 28 per cent air force.

All of the units activated by the AGF will function as parts of 25 reserve divisions which have been allocated among the six army areas. The army hopes eventually to have a reserve force of about 3,000,000 officers and men.

Devers said activation of approximately 2,400 organized reserve corps units and detachments of non-combat supporting services also has been authorized

The reserve will provide the army with technical specialists and professional men whom it cannot maintain on active duty in large enough numbers in peacetime to meet wartime needs.

Organized reserve corps units activated to date include:

Second army: Pittsburgh, infantry, anti-aircraft and ordnance; Butler, Pa., infantry; Baltimore, Md., parachute infantry and quartermaster group, Washington, D. C., infantry, tank battalion, field artillery and ordnance, Cleveland, infantry, military police, artillery, combat engineers, medical battalion, signal company, reconnaissance troops; Youngstown, O., quartermaster company; Newark, O., 703rd ordnance, Akron, infantry; Indianapolis, infantry; Anderson, Ind., infantry, Evansville, Ind., infantry, Ft Wayne, Ind., industry; Louisville, Ky., airborne infantry and artillery.

Barclay on Bridge

By SHEPARD BARCLAY

Many veteran players call the spade suit "the overcoat" because it can cover any other suit during the auction without raising the level of the bidding. That is usually a great advantage, though it is not always so in the early stages of the auction, when your partner can't respond with another suit except by going one degree higher But at the windup, especially when one side is trying to sacrifice against the other in the game and slam zone, the side with the spades has the edge.

Try as they could, East and West could not take the bid away from North and South, who held the "overcoat", spades. If the North-South suit had been anything else, the opponents could have sacrificed against it and thus limited their loss to down a few doubled not-vulnerable tricks. As it was, however, there was no way to keep the spade holders from their grand slam, though East must have thought his side had some chance to set it, or otherwise he would not have increased his own side's loss by doubling.

Naturally the contract was made West wanted to lead a trump, but couldn't, so opened his club K The A won, the diamond A furnished a club discard from dummy, the club 3 was ruffed, and thereafter the red suits were cross-ruffed until the declarer had all of the tricks.

Seldom will you see a case of all three side suits cue-bid by the strong side. Notice how North showed his emphatic spade fit and diamond blank by bidding 4-Diamonds, how South then showed his heart blank and slam expectations with 5-Hearts, and how he could have cue-bid the clubs, holding the ace, if a lower bid of that suit had reached him. But, after he heard North's second confirmation of spades at the small slam level, he was ready to bid the grand slam without further ado.

HOUSING LACK TO FREE GI'S

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Hundreds of enlisted men in the lower grades now are eligible for discharge or transfer to the United States as result of the army's announced inability to supply their dependents with quarters overseas.

The war department said that it was necessary to reserve overseas quarters for dependents of officers and master, technical and staff sergeants because of a world-wide housing shortage, budget cuts and lack of vessels suitable for accommodating women and children.

The department said it realizes the disappointment which will be felt by personnel whose families will be unable to join them overseas under the revised program, and added:

"Provision has been made to permit men in the last four enlisted grades to apply for discharge or transfer to the zone of interior under certain conditions."

GI's eligible are those who enlisted prior to Nov. 10, 1946; acquired their dependents before that date; and have 18 months or more to serve.

Priority lists submitted by overseas commander for the month of December will be the last to include dependents of enlisted men before the first three grades. It was emphasized that in the few overseas commands where individuals may make private arrangements for housing dependents rank will not be considered.

Poliomyelitis in severe form is relatively rare—even during epidemics rarely more than three children per 1,000 are affected.

Try and Stop Me

—By Bennet Cerf

In the days when Gene Fowler and Jack Barrymore were inseparable, sometimes on the wagon and sometimes not, they caused quite a commotion in a residential section of White Plains by driving up to a mansion at four in the morning in a New York taxi-cab.

They banged on the door until the night-shirted master of the establishment opened it. The temperature was about ten below zero, and the visitors were very cold and very noisy. "It's Fowler and Barrymore," the startled host called up to his wife. "Land's sake!" she exclaimed. "Are they sober?" "I'm not sure," reported the host, "but both of them are wearing the uniform of the New York Giants"
